Ballard View Condos Again Under Fire Before Zoning Board

By Karen L. Day

Vehement objection by the "Ballard View Condominiums" affordable housing developers did nothing to dissuade the Andover Zoning Board of Appeals from pursuing further information on the issues of possible hazardous waste, sewage and on-site culverts.

During the course of the third public hearing Tuesday night, the developer's counsel repeatedly engaged in verbal warfare with board members and other town officials. The banter at various times elicited cheers and jeers from the samll but vocal audience.

At the outset, Chairman Wesley Whitney recounted the issues to be addressed—location of Clark Brook and its relation to two existing culverts, Board of Health concerns regarding the hazardous waste issue, and an initial Goldberg-Zoino report that had not been provided to the board.

Robert McQuade, public works director, commented he had received no information regarding the sewage plans or the culverts prior to the afternoon of the hearing. When he contacted the developer last Friday to question when the digging would be done, he was told the work had already been done.

Atty. Neil Glick, counsel to the developer, contended the work was done properly, Clark Brook does not exist and the culvert in question actually ends on their site. Glick also stated the "unilateral nature" of the digging was nothing more than "a misunderstanding."

"It is impossible for me to believe," countered Whitney, "that it was not understood Mr. McQuade was to participate." In response, Glick invited McQuade to view what had been done. Whitney directed McQuade to do so, and evaluate whether or not more digging with the backhoe would be necessary. McQuade accepted the invitation, but commented "They have shown no interest in doing that."

Glick stated having a backhoe on the property in case McQuade saw fit to use it was an exhorbitantly expensive proposition. Whitney reiterated the backhoe would only be requested if McQuade felt it necessary after viewing the prior work. "It's a price you will have to pay," said Whitney, for not having McQuade present during the dig as directed.

Glick then presented plans for a sewage pumping station to be installed if necessary after infiltration tests are done in the spring. He offered the board the opportunity to place a condition binding the developer to installing the pumping station if necessary. Again, McQuade expressed concern.

Such a condition, said McQuade, would bind him to accepting the pumping station as the only solution should the spring test results find the current siphon inadequate for the development. "I am not ready to accept that," he said.

Glick countered that if the developer were brought into further negotiations on this issue, "The offer may change....I can't see why we have to continue." He added there is not evidence supporting the fact that the culvert is an issue.

McQuade commented "There is a Clark Brook" and that the developer's original plans show the Clark Brook culvert being "picked up" and brought around the site.

In an effort to end the discussion, Glick commented "If you don't believe us, put a condition on the permit." Board member Wallace Bolton then expressed anger the developer did not do the culvert digging as directed by the board. Glick again countered they had never agreed to have McQuade on-site during the digging. "I have the transcript here," he commented, receiving further jeers from the audience.

Director of Public Health, Everett Penney, then addressed the board, reiterating his contention there be further testing for hazardous waste on the site before any permits are issued. Penney added the Board of Health had voted unanimously in favor of such a recommendation, but refused further explanation. "Because of pending litigation, I cannot comment further than that," he stated. When asked later, Penney would only comment the Health Department is considering litigation against the developer in reference to a number of issues.

A letter from Board of Health Chairman, Dr. Douglas Dunbar, stated the board had requested further investigation by the Massachusetts Environmental Protection Agency (MEPA) and the Department of Environmental Quality and Engineering (DEQE). He then urged the board to also request further investigation before issuing permits.

Glick responded that Walter Mullica of I.E.P. had done a complete study and found no reason for further investigation. Since the town has hired I.E.P. to complete a 21E study on the Champy/Shetland property, Glick believes, their opinion should be trusted.

Continuing, Glick added if the board was not willing to accept Mullica's opinion, they should consider the fact that MEPA saw no reason for further study of the land. "Take the Commonwealth's word for it," he urged. Counsel for the board, Atty. Robert Zollner, then asked Glick whether or not he had stated the I.E.P. report was in fact a full 21E. "Yes, it is," responded Glick.

Glick proceeded to contend his clients, Steven and James Feinberg, had presented much more information for the board's consideration than other comprehensive permit applicants. He added that when he looked through other applicants' files, they often did not contain or require 21E reports, although his client had been told they were required for all comprehensive permits.

"Who told you that?" asked Whitney. "Mr. Colyer," answered Glick, referring to town Physical Planner Stephen Colyer.

Colyer put Glick on the spot, asking "on what date" he had made such a statement. Glick contended it was at the first meeting between the developers and Colyer regarding the application. Colyer refuted the allegation he had said anything of the sort, on that day or any other.

Glick quickly moved off the topic, stating that whether or not it was said, his

Charles F. Dalton Completes Recruit Training

Charles F. Dalton, III recently completed 11 weeks basic training at the United States Marine Corps Recruit Training Center at Parris Island, S.C.

Pvt. Dalton qualified with the M-16 assault rifle and was a member of the 2061st Battalion which received the Commandant's Award. He is a graduate of North Andover High School and a post-graduate at Brewster Academy in Wolfeboro, N.H.

Dalton is the son of Janice Fernald of North Andover and Atty. Charles F. Dalton, Jr. of Andover, and the grandson of the late Charles F. Dalton, long-time proprietor of Dalton's Pharmacy on Main Street, and the late Jeannie S. Dalton.

Completes Advanced Studies

Sharon C. Hastings, a student at Andover High School, is returning for her senior year after spending six weeks at the Massachusetts Advanced Studies Program.

Hastings, daughter of Joseph and Cynthia Hastings, 170 Summer St., was chosen from among more than 400 nominees to attend this state-wide program, which is open to outstanding public and parochial school juniors. Held each summer on the campus of Milton Academy, MASP allows students the opportunity for intensive college-level study together with college guidance, financial aid planning, college visiting, sports and recreational and cultural activities. Generous grants from banks, corporations and philanthropies throughout the Commonwealth make it possible for any student selected to attend, regardless of financial need.

Each student chooses a special field of study and a writing skills course. Hastings concentrated in philosophy and took Exploring the Essay for writing.

Asked to comment on the summer's experience, she said, "I found it to be a challenging experience and invaluable for college preparation and I also made many new and, hopefully, lasting friendships while there."

School nominations from this year's junior class will be made in January. Information is available from school guidance offices or the MASP office at Milton Academy, Milton 02186.

Film Series Continues

The Andover Public Access Channel 11 continues to feature its weekly Potpourri Film series. During the week of September 28-October 1, a 30-minute program will feature a series of short, informational pieces on using a wok, dual career families, selecting plants for dark corners and buying computer furniture.

This series is always shown at the same times each week: Monday, 10 a.m.; Tuesday, 2 p.m.; Wednesday, 4 p.m. Thursday, 7 p.m. The Andover Cable TV Advisory Committee provides this series as a public service to the Town of Andover.

Arts Lottery Application Deadline

The Andover Arts Lottery Council reminds artists, musicians, performers and humanitarians that the deadline for submitting applications for the January 1988 funding cycle is October 2. Applications may be picked up and returned to the Department of Community Services, Town Offices, Bartlet Street. For information regarding application procedures, contact Selma Flieder.

Back To School Night At Bancroft

Bancroft Elementary school will have its "Back to School Night" for all Bancroft parents on October 5 from 7-9 p.m. All faculty will be introduced. P.T.O. membership registration will also take place that night, and refreshments will be served.

Selectmen To Meet Monday

The Board of Selectmen will hold their next meeting on Monday night,

Sept. 28, in the third floor conference room of town hall.

Appointed Project Director

Kenneth Kwajewski of Amherst, N.H., has been appointed Computer Education Project Director for the Andover school system. Kwajewski will serve for a term of three years under the school department's new Computer Plan.

Prior to his arrival in Andover, Kwajewski served for three years as Computer Education Coordinator in the Harvard, Ma. school system. He has held a similar position in Dedham, and spent two years as a computer science teacher in Milford, N.H.

Kwajewski holds a Masters degree in curriculum development from the University of Lowell, a Masters in Education from North Adams State College, and a Bachelor of Science in Chemistry from the University of Massachusetts-Amherst. He is currently beginning doctoral study in Education Technology at Boston College.

To Plan After-School Program

The Andover Department of Community Services announces the beginning of after-school and Friday evening recreation and leisure programs for the special needs population of Andover and surrounding communities. These programs will be geared to children, young adults and adults. The after-school program will be held at Doherty Junior High School and might include courses in sports, music, art, photography and more. The Friday night "live" program will take in all sporting, cultural and entertainment performances in the area.

All parents and their children are invited to an open house on Thursday, Oct. 1, at Doherty Junior High School, Room 120, at 7:30 p.m. (enter from the back of the building) to share ideas and suggestions.

Rep. Tucker At Library Saturday

Rep. Sue Tucker will be at Memorial Hall Library conducting open office hours Saturday, Sept. 26, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Persons with concerns about state issues are invited to visit.

SHED Program Underway

The Shawsheen Extended Day Program (SHED) at the Shawsheen School is off to a fine start. SHED opened its doors the same day kindergarten started.

SHED, an enrichment/child care program for the kindergarten-aged children at Shawsheen School, is a self-supported, non-profit corporation regulated by the Office for Children and overseen by the Department of Community Services. The SHED program admits children of any race, color and national or ethnic origin.

In keeping the teacher/child ratio as low as possible and the groupings fairly consistent, SHED is able to meet the developmental needs of each child while encouraging a feeling of companionship among the children. SHED provides a comfortable, protected and familiar setting for the child and meets the parents' needs for safe, affordable child care.

SHED registration is held at the same time as kindergarten registration in the spring on a first-come, first-serve basis. Registrations are not taken in advance.

The SHED program is full. If interested in being placed on a waiting list for this year, call Sydney Bialo at the school between 8 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

The SHED program is in need of substitute teachers. It is not necessary to be teacher certified to be a substitute and teaching hours are during school hours. If interested, call Bialo.

Tour To Visit Historic Site

Slater Mill Historic Site, Pawtucket, R.I., the birthplace of the American Industrial Revolution, will be the destination of the annual fall bus tour of the Museum of American Textile History, North Andover, on Sunday, Oct. 18.

The bus will leave the museum at 9 a.m. with historian Robert M. Brown, public programs supervisor, pointing out historical sites along the way. Built by Samuel Slater in 1793, Slater Mill was the first factory in America to produce cotton yarn successfully with water-powered machinery. Exhibits include operating textile machinery illustrating the primary processes in converting raw cotton to finished yarn, thread, cloth and braid.

The tour will include two other buildings at the mill site. Exhibits at Wilkinson Mill, built by Oziel Wilkinson in 1810, include an operating 19th-century machine shop run by a 16,000-pound water wheel. The Sylvanus Brown House, built in 1758, was the home of a skilled millwright and pattern-maker who worked for Slater and the Wilkinsons. It is furnished today in accord with Brown's probate inventory of 1824.

Lunch at Archie's Tavern Restaurant in Pawtucket will be followed by an hour of shopping at The Fall River Factory Outlet Center and The Spindle City Outlet Center in the Wamponoag Mill in Fall River. The bus will return at 4 p.m. when participants can tour the museum's current exhibits, "Factory Labor: Shaping Work in America" and "A Museum is...."

Reservations must be made in advance. For more information, call the museum.

Courses

The St. Francis Institute announces its future program to help students prepare academically for college. The program consists of organizational skills, verbal and mathematical skills, S.A.T. preparations, leadership and communication skills.

Other subjects and test preparations for youngsters and adults are available upon request. For further information, write to Fr. Lucius Annese, OFM, Director, St. Francis Institute, P.O. Box 263, Andover, MA 01810.

Andover At The Constitution

By Barbara Thibault

During the period that the federal constitution was written, Andover comprised the three present-day communities of Andover, North Andover and South Lawrence. Drawing from the historical resources at the Andover Historical Society's Underhill Research Library at 97 Main St., information about the community can be learned.

For example, in the first national census of 1790, Andover had a population of 2,863 made up of 525 families living in 402 houses. Though the majority of the residents lived on farms and worked the land, it is important to note that Phillips Academy was founded three years after the American Revolution and factories to produce gun powder and paper joined saw and grist mills along the Shawsheen River. By 1795 a map of the town was drawn by surveyors John Farnum and Moses Abbot illustrating major roads, rivers, ponds, bridges, mills and meeting houses.

Miss Bailey, in her 1880 Historical Sketches of Andover, lists residents from families such as Abbot, Bridges, Chandler, Chickering, Johnson, Kittredge, Phillips, Poor, Osgood and Wilson on committees that took active roles in state and federal constitution debates. One group appointed by the town in September 1786 met to make a report "to promote the general welfare and state what upon due deliberation appear to be grievances."

and William Symmes, were chosen by ballot to represent Andover at the constitution convention to decide how the state of Massachusetts would vote. Furthermore, these men were directed to oppose the proposed form of the constitution though a later town meeting record shows the community as quite divided on the topic.

Osgood (1745-1801), son of Capt. Peter Osgood and Sarah Johnson, began his political career as a convention delegate and later became Andover's representative to the General Court for many years. Kittredge (1746-1818), a prominent medical doctor, served as surgeon in the war for independence. Symmes (1760-1807), a younger man, trained in law at Harvard College.

According to Dr. Fuess in Andover: Symbol of New England, Symmes delivered the final remarks at the state convention. He spoke out in favor of the constitution as convincingly presented by notable statesmen Samuel Adams and John Hancock. Massachusetts voted to accept the constitution as proposed for the Philadelphia convention by a vote of 187 to 68. Symmes was later memorialized by Senator Nathaniel Hazen as a true patriot, however, in 1788 local history records that he was pressured to leave town.

It seems that later historians, as summarized in the 1888 History of Essex County, decided that Symmes' change in vote may have been responsible for persuading other delegates to do so and may have been the catalyst for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts' delegates to vote favorably for the national constitution.

DCS Registers 800

A crowded auditorium at Doherty Junior High School on September 16 for DCS registration was a sure sign that fall has arrived. Nearly 800 class slots have already been filled. "The room may be overwhelmingly full, causing you to consider turning around and walking out. Don't! Look at your watch—we are confident that you will be out of here in less than 40 minutes," stated Joan Pearson, director. Registrants were pleasantly surprised to be out in less than 30 minutes.

Class begin Monday, Sept. 28, and registrations are still being accepted at the department or by mailing in a form. Consider being enrolled in the course signed up for unless notified otherwise.

For questions and more information, call the

DCS. Fall special events can be registered for at the department: Sept. 27, Garden in the Woods; Sept. 30, "Shear Madness" Theater Trip; Oct. 18, Family Day at the Apple Orchards; Oct. 24, Pumpkin Decorating Contest; Oct. 29, DCS Spooktacular (formerly Monster Mash Dash); Oct. 30, Haunted House IX; Nov. 7, Shopping at Olde Shrewsbury Village; Dec. 28, "The Nutcracker."

Freshmen

Two Andover students recently began studies as freshmen at Allegheny College, a selective liberal arts college in Meadville, Pa.

David A. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Sullivan, North Main Street, is a 1987 graduate of the Deerfield Academy in Deerfield. He was a member of student government and the Discipline Advisory Board and won varsity letters in football, track and baseball.

Lisa K. Abrams, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Bruce D. Abrams, Appletree Lane, is a 1987 graduate of The Gunnery in Washington, Conn. She received honor roll recognition and participated in soccer, volleyball and lacrosse.

Fall Classes Offered At Y

Now is the time to register for adult classes at the Andover-North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

The Y's way to Physical Fitness, the YMCA national program to improve cardiovascular and muscular fitness, meets for one hour on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. You have the option of taking the class from 6:15 a.m. to 7:15 a.m. or 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Early Bird Fitness classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday from 6:15 a.m. to 7 a.m. Beth Cookman, NDEITA certified, takes participants through a sound workout which includes stretching, jogging, aerobic combinations and a cool down.

Aerobic Action is a new fitness class. This coed, free-style aerobic exercise program is designed for adults of all fitness levels. You have the option of taking the class on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:15 a.m. to 10:15 a.m. or Tuesday, Thursday from 7:15 a.m. to 8:15 a.m. and Saturday from 9:05 a.m. to 10:05 a.m.

Joy Aerobic Dance is a choreographed dance and exercise program. New routines are learned each 10-week session. Classes meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10:20 a.m. to 11:20 a.m. or Tuesday and Thursday from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Saturday at 8.

Pre-Natal Post-Partum exercises works on muscle tone, flexibility and relaxation and were specifically developed to prepare for labor as well as aid in a quick post-partum recovery. Class meets on Tuesday and Thursday from 9:45 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.

Other available programs include Y's Way to a Healthy Back and the Y's Way to Weight Management. Both national programs have proven success rates. Massage Therapy is one-half or one full hour of stress reduction and relaxation. For further information, call the "Y."

Slade Has Exhibit At Bank

Phila Slade of North Andover is exhibiting her water colors in the Arlington Trust Bank in Shawsheen Plaza for September and October. Her Sumi-e paintings may be seen in the parlor of North Parish Church in North Andover.

Her paintings of local subjects and flowers are regularly in the decorating department of Gorham Hardware in North Andover.

Slade has studied at Cornell University, Massachusetts College of Art and the Art Institute of Boston. She has studied with many artists, locally with Florence Mathews, Cory Staid and Jane Trumbore, and in classes with several other internationally known artists.

Slade was awarded first prize for 1985 at Stevens Memorial Library in North Andover. She is on the board of the Andovers Artists Guild, Inc.

Course On Youth In Government

The Andover-North Andover YMCA will begin a new program specially for high school students. The Youth in Government Program offers the opportunity to experience democratic government first hand. Participants from all over Massachusetts establish their own government, debate issues, elect officers and write legislation.

The program will be under the leadership of Dan Halloran who has extensive experience in the Massachusetts State Government, including recently running for Councilman of his district in Lawrence.

Those interested should call the "Y" and attend the first meeting at the YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover, on Tuesday, Oct. 6, at 7:15 p.m.

Breazeale Named Trustee For Program

Kelly W. Breazeale of 5 Nutmeg Lane, president of VHA Massachusetts/Health Front in Waltham, was named to the board of trustees of New England Healthcare Assembly Inc.

The 66-year-old educational organization was founded as New England Hospital Assembly. Its name was changed in the spring by officers and trustees to reflect the broader outlook of the organization.

The first major, region-wide educational program under the organization's new name is the Fall Instructional Conferences, which will be held Nov. 2-4 at Boston's Back Bay Hilton Hotel.

The task of Breazeale and his fellow trustees is to direct the Assembly and increase volunteer representation, both in board positions and throughout the organization. The board now has six representatives (one from each New England state), four officers, the immediate past president and seven at-large members.

The organization's Durham, N.H. office offers year-round educational programs for nurses, trustees and health care managers and executives and conducts on-site training to improve the performance and productivity of health care workers.

To Head VNA HomeCare

Alan D. Solomont

Alan D. Solomont, the newly-elected resident of Visiting Nurse Association HomeCare Board of Directors, said rising health care costs, population growth and a rapidly increasing number of senior citizens mean that VNA HomeCare will have to be ready to meet continuing, unprecedented demand for its home health services.

Solomont, a member of the VNA HomeCare board of directors since 1983, is the second president of the not-for-profit organization which was founded in 1895 and became a free-standing home health agency in 1979. He was elected vice president of the board in 1985. He follows Mrs. Edna G. Thomas of Andover, out-going president, who served in that post since 1979.

Solomont stated that VNA HomeCare's recent move to expanded facilities in Andover significantly expands its capacity to serve the growing Merrimack Valley community and other areas of need. "We must, however, be able to continue to attract the kind of staff, resources and funding which makes us one of the most respected home care organizations in New England."

VNA HomeCare responds to community, professional and patient calls in the metropolitan Lawrence-Haverhill area, eastern Merrimack Valley, northeast Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. The organization operates from regional centers in Andover and Haverhill.

Solomont is president of A D S Management,

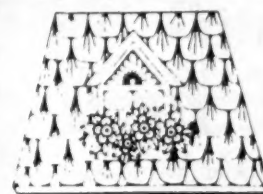

Inc., a health care organization based in Lawrence. The firm provides management, operations, clinical care, health care project development and financial services to nursing homes and continuing care communities throughout Massachusetts. He is also an experienced registered nurse and has been a nursing home administrator.

Solomont is president of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes, chairman of the long-term care committee of the Statewide Health Coordinating Council and served as a member of the Governor's Committee of Alheimers Disease.

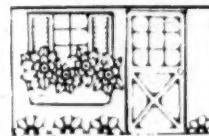

He is also a trustee of the University of Lowell and a director of the ArlTru Bancorporation.

Solomont earned a B.S. degree in nursing from the University of Lowell and an A.B. degree in political science and urban studies from Tufts University.

ABOUT OUR PEOPLE

THE TOWNSMAN, SEPTEMBER 24, 1987

Vision Of Boston

By Karen L. Day

Kelly Wise

"City Limits: Images of Boston in Transition," a compilation of four photographers' works, is not what one would consider a "pretty" book, but it is both honest and compelling.

The photographers obviously have mastered the technical aspects of black-and-white photography, allowing them to react to an image, rather than spend time worrying about such mundane matters as lighting. Their mastery of lighting, though, is part of what gives these pictures life.

The strongest pieces in the book are the "people" photographs. "Location" shots had far less impact—they could have been taken in any major city. That criticism could be spread to the whole book, if one were to be picky.

Nevertheless, in the people-oriented images, the artists' sensitivity to their subjects and their sense of timing shone through. The honesty (only one was obviously posed) is what makes the pictures jump out from the page and grab you.

Kelly Wise, who edited the collection, contributed the above photograph, epitomizing the phrase "timing is everything." It is doubtful the child had any idea of the impact of what he was doing, but Wise instinctively did. It is not only beautifully composed, it tells a story and inspires thought.

The blurred image technique is somewhat overused, detracting from the impact of some pictures rather than contributing to it. It appears the photographers were uncertain an image could stand on its own merit and employed this bit of minor technical wizardry to be safe. My eye often went directly to that blurred portion, drawing my attention away from the

Wise chose photographs that concentrated rather heavily on the poorer neighborhoods and people. Although I commend the effort to avoid presenting nothing more than a book of picture postcards, it went to the opposite extreme. Without a picture or two at the swan boats or historical sites, much of the essence of Boston is ignored. If one did not know these were taken in Boston, or were not familiar with the city, one would never make the connection.

Still, it is one of the most captivating collections compiled. I readily admit that part of my adoration is resultant of my personal familiarity with many of the locations, but even those not so familiar would be hard put to avoid feeling these photographs. The four photographers' works both compliment and contrast each other, offering a balance of style and viewpoint.

I found myself smiling along with the four teens depicted in Polly Brown's photograph at the entrance to the English High School Senior Prom. Desolation oozes from the man and woman Roswell Angier photographed walking down Washington Street in Roxbury. I laughed aloud at the Daughters of St. Paul playing volleyball in their habits, a candid snared by Bill Burke. And Kelly Wise constantly creates social commentary by capturing not only people or places, but the relationship or irony between the two.

These artists captured the true essence of everyday life in Boston, though I would not refer to it as "Transition."

Personally, I will display a copy of this book on my coffee table—right next to its distant cousins, "A Day in the Life of America" and "Nantucket Island."

Alternative Leisure Services

Alternative Leisure Services is a recreation and leisure program designed for school-age, teens and young adults with special needs. This eight-week program will be held after school on Wednesdays. An informational meeting for parents will be held Thursday, Oct. 1, at 7:30 p.m. at Doherty Junior High School. For more information, contact the Department of Community Services.

Evaluating Child Care

Marlies Zamuto of the Child Care Circuit will lead a class on "How to Select and Evaluate Your Family's Child Care" on Tuesday, Sept. 29, at the high school from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Parents are invited to a discussion of the process of finding, selecting and evaluating child care. Register at the Department of Community Services, Town Offices, Bartlet Street.

Bodywise Returns

Bodywise is back teaching Pre-Gymnastics and Exercise (ages 3-4) course. Students must be 3 years old by December 1987 to participate. The class combines fun with tumbling headstands, handstands and beam. Attention is given to large muscle groups. Parent/Toddler Fund and Fitness is exactly that. The fun includes playing with your toddler and the fitness is the attention given to the large muscle groups, abdominals and fine motor skills. Both classes meet Thursday mornings at Faith Lutheran Church for ten weeks. Register at DCS.

Karate Classes

Steve Kalacki, instructor holds a first degree black belt with more than 11 years of experience. Registration for his karate classes is being accepted at the Department of Community Services on Bartlet Street for adults and children.

Tootsie Roll Drive In October

The Knights of Columbus annual Tootsie Roll Drive for the mentally and handicapped children will take place October 1-4.

All the money is turned over to the State Council.

Last year Andover collected $1,600 and the state returned $5,000 to be used to benefit the mentally and handicapped children of Andover.

Homecare Hospice Accredited

For the first time in northeast Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire, accreditation for superior professional hospice care, family support and inpatient services has been awarded to Visiting Nurse Association HomeCare's Hospice Program by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, it was announced by Constance R. Carroll, VNA HomeCare's Hospice director.

The Joint Commission's accreditation reflects evaluation by America's leading professional organizations which set the national standards for Hospice care programs under JCAH throughout the United States.

"Recognition by the joint commission, which represents the top national professional medical, hospital, social work and theological organizations is particularly gratifying," Carroll stated. "Even more important, Joint Commission accreditation is further assurance of outstanding care for communities throughout the region," she added.

Carroll noted that the JCAH accreditation reflects joint approval by a commission representing such organizations as the American Hospital Association, the American Medical Association, the American Nurses Association, the American Psychiatric and Psychological Associations, the American College of Chaplains, the Association of Community Cancer Centers, National Association for Home Care, National Association of Social Workers, National League of Nursing and the National Hospice Organization.

VNA HomeCare's Hospice program began in 1983. It has provided care and comfort to more than 1,200 terminally-ill patients and their families in the region from Hospice care centers in Andover (One Union St.) and Haverhill (602 Main St.). Last year VNA HomeCare Hospice dedicated the first regional Hospice Inpatient Hospice Care Unit at Lawrence General Hospital in Lawrence. Additional units are planned.

VNA HomeCare Hospice is the first and only Medicare certified hospice in northeast Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. The certification, which provides Medicare insurance coverage for certain medications and Hospice home care to Medicare-qualified patients was awarded by the federal government in 1985.

Carroll said, "Our Hospice program has three basic operating principles: comfort for the patient, support for the family and peace and caring in the home."

She noted that all VNA HomeCare Hospice care is undertaken with the participation of the patient's physician. Volunteers and accredited homemakers and aides supervised by professionals support daily family living and provide respite care to relieve families who care for patients at home. VNA HomeCare Hospice also supports family groups and individuals through its "TouchStones" and "Lifelines" group awareness programs to assure peace and caring in the home and to provide after-care support for the bereaved.

VNA HomeCare Hospice is a Medicare certified home health provider, Massachusetts and New Hampshire licensed home health provider and Massachusetts and New Hampshire Blue Cross home health and hospice provider.

The group is a member of the Merrimack Valley United Fund, the National Hospice Organization, Hospice Federation of Massachusetts, Massachusetts Association of Community Health Agencies, Visiting Nurse Association of Massachusetts, Inc. and Massachusetts Council of Homemakers and Home Health Aides.

Koala Employees In Bike-A-Thon

Nine employees from the Koala Inn in Andover will participate in the third annual Mary C. Gelineau 20 mile Bike-A-Thon to help raise money for the cancer management program at Bon Secours Hospital in Methuen on Sunday, Sept. 27, at 9:30 a.m. The employees hope to raise more than $1,500.

The event has raised more than $40,000 over the past two years and officials hope to double last year's earnings.

Riders for the Andover Koala Inn are General Manager Susan Madden of Boston, Sales Manager Beth Twiss of Andover, James Blondin of Kingston, N.H., Paul Lewis of Andover, Phyllis Puzniak of Salem, N.H., Dereck Buote, of Lawrence, Jeff Wedge of Lowell, Debby Whittle of Tewksbury and Dennis Hatch of Dorchester. Each participant will be sponsored per mile by friends and family.

The race will begin at the hospital where a hotel employee wearing a life-sized koala bear costume will cheer the bikers on.

Boston Pops Orchestra Sunday, Sept. 27 7 p.m.

Harry Ellis Dickson

The Boston Pops Orchestra will kick off the fifth anniversary season of the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts for one performance only.

Sponsored by Andover Bank, the Pops will make a return appearance at the Collins Center, having played the inaugural concert at the dedication ceremonies in September 1983. Under the direction of Harry Ellis Dickson, the orchestra will play a varied program including selections from "Girl Crazy," Richard Rodgers' Waltzes and a medley entitled "Swing, Swing, Swing."

To help observe Gershwin's 50th anniversary, Benjamin Pasternack will join the orchestra for "Rhapsody in Blue."

A native of Philadelphia, pianist Pasternack began his performance career at age eight. By the time he was 13, he was a full scholarship student at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia where one of his teachers was Rudolph Serki. Pasternack has appeared with the symphony orchestras of Philadelphia and St. Louis and played with the Boston Symphony in the 1987 Tanglewood concerts.

Robert Henderson, president of Andover Bank, said he is enthusiastic about his bank's support of the Boston Pops concert.

"We are overjoyed that the Collins Center has become a major part of the cultural activity of the Merrimack Valley," he said. "Each year since the opening night, Andover Bank has provided financial support for the opening concert. We continue to be proud as we support the arts in the Merrimack Valley."

The program will also include works of Tanhuser, Bernstein, Debussy and Rimsky-Korsakov, "A Salute to Leroy Anderson" and other Pops favorites.

Tickets for the concert are $45, $35 and $25.

Al Martino and Anna Maria Alberghetti Friday, Oct. 16 8 p.m.

Al Martino and Anna Maria Alberghetti will be at the Collins Center for "a romantic evening of love songs."

Martino is known the world over for his smooth, relaxed vocal qualities. He has come a long way from the days of his youth when he was a South Philadelphia bricklayer—a trade he learned from his father.

Born Alfred Cini in Philadelphia, Martino entered the construction business with his father and two brothers, singing in local night clubs in the evenings. His big break came in 1952 with the success of the record "Here in my Heart," which sold more than 1 million copies.

His co-star for the Collins Center performance has been in the limelight since she was 6. Alberghetti is resuming a career she put on hold to raise her family. After her divorce from director-producer Claudio Guzman 13 years ago, the singer/actress got back into show business, starting with an appearance at The Nugget Casino in Sparks, Nev. in 1978.

Television, motion pictures and the Broadway stage are on her agenda; her return cushioned by the previous four years as the television hostess for Good Seasons commercials.

Tickets for the performance are $30, $25 and $20.

Martino and Alberghetti

Mel Torme, and Peter Thursday, Oct. 8 p.m.

Mel Torme, Leslie Uggams and Peter Nero will perform "The Great Gershwin Concert" with the Festival Concert Orchestra. This George Gershwin golden anniversary event was conceived and written by Torme.

Torme, a professional entertainer for more than 50 years, has won critical and audience acclaim as a singer, composer, drummer, TV talk show host, musical arranger, dramatic actor, TV producer, vaudeville performer and author of books, TV shows and magazine and newspaper articles.

At 8 Torme won first place in the children's division of the radio auditions contest at the Century of Progress World's Fair, singing an Al Jolson song, "Goin' to Heaven on a Mule."

Torme has been an annual headliner at the top hotels around the country and virtually every major concert hall in the United States. He writes and orchestrates his own musical arrangements.

Torme was awarded the Grammy as best male jazz vocalist for his album, "An Evening with George Shearing and Mel Torme" four years ago.

Uggams will appear at the Collins Center the same night as Torme. Co-host of the new NBC-TV hour-long daytime series, Fantasy, Uggams attended the Juilliard school, majoring in musical composition and theory.

The versatile performer won the Critics Choice Award for best supporting actress in 1978 and an Emmy nomination for best leading actress for her portrayal of Kizzy in Roots.

Nero has also had a remarkable career. He has built an impressive reputation as composer, symphony conductor and arranger in addition to his career as a virtuoso pianist.

He is crisscrossing North America and Canada, conducting and performing with symphony orchestras from St. Louis to Spokane. Nero, music director of the Philly Pops since 1979, has built the group into a national institution with a series that sells out on subscription.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y. Nero started his formal music training at age 7. By the time he was 14 he had won numerous piano competitions, a scholarship to the Juilliard School of Music and made guest appearances with symphony orchestras.

Tickets for the "Great Gershwin Concert" are $40, $35 and $30.

The Collins Center celebrates its fifth birthday season with a bang, bringing a variety of talented performers to its stage. Whether you like classical, jazz, ballet or gymnastics, the Center has a little something for everyone.

On these pages is the first half of the 1987-88, which starts Sunday with the Boston Pops. Tickets are available at the Center, Shawsheen Road, Monday through Friday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. (470-1905) and at Ticketron agencies.

Kurt Thomas Tuesday, Nov. 17 7 p.m.

The genesis for Gymnastics America can be traced back some 15 years to a Miami high school gymnasium where a young Kurt Thomas made a short climb to parallel bars. That also marked the start of a climb up a sports ladder that is having rungs added to it each year by Thomas.

Few athletes have matched the staying power of this three-time world champion gymnast, winner of the Sullivan Award as this nation's amateur athlete-of-the-year, successful network television commentator, and the star of a motion picture.

Thomas has established himself as one of the finest gymnasts in history, which isn't too bad, considering the sport has origins in Egypt 3,000 years before Christ.

Gymnastics America, a dream that had been stirring inside Thomas, "takes professional athletic competition to another dimension...family entertainment that is fast-paced and fresh," relates Thomas who embarks on a 40-city United States tour with a cast of professional, world class gymnasts. The concept is unique and has been tested.

Thomas headlined a 1982 United States Professional Gymnastics Classic that toured nearly two dozen states and Canada, closing in Miami with the staging of a national broadcast through NBC-TV. During the 1984 summer Olympics, millions enjoyed his expert commentary with ABC-TV's Jack Whittaker (Thomas had missed the 1980 Olympics due to the United States boycott of the Moscow Games).

MGM/UA picked him to star in its early summer release "Gymkata," seen in more than 1,500 theaters in the United States alone.

In between this schedule, Thomas was grooming Gymnastics America. A version of the production was attracting audiences four times each day at Sea World/Orlando. Sea World executives liked what they saw and two additional shows were booked for summer engagements at Sea World/San Diego and their entertainment complex near Cleveland.

"Gymnastics America is body discipline at its zenith, even with the comedy and stunt routines," Thomas said. "It leaves audiences saying 'wow'...they are awed."

Tickets are $20, $18 and $15.

Chubby Checkers Saturday, Nov. 21 8 p.m.

In the mid-1950s 14-year-old Ernest "Chubby" Evans sang his impressions of the current rock & roll stars (Fats, Elvis, Jerry Lee, Little Richard, Chuck Berry, etc.) to the customers at the Poultry Market in South Philadelphia. He sang harmony songs in the evenings on the street corners with his singing group "The Quantrells." Who knew then that within three years he would get an official name change (to Chubby Checker by Dick Clark's wife who met him while he was doing a Fats Domino impression), sign a record deal, record a song that would become number one two different times, change the way people would dance and unleash a mania that is rare in the music industry.

In the Peppermint Lounge in New York, celebrities fought their way to the dance floor and Checker was the undisputed king who leapt to the fore like a born leader.

The hits and dances rolled on (more than 20 albums and 40 singles) creating a body of work that will stand as a landmark of choreography. The twist brought dancing couples apart and free to express themselves. It was a national pastime with twistmania rampant, including twist sweaters, skirts, jackets, hats, shoes, Barbie dolls, movies, food and paraphernalia of all kinds.

The '60s went on and Chubby took his steps to Europe where his popularity always bordered on the enormous.

Into and through the '70s, Chubby Checker and the Chubby Checker Band mounted an ambitious performance touring schedule. The spirit of the twist remained strong and the Chubby Checker Band grew into a major touring attraction.

Checker kept his ear to the radio, his feet on the move and literally steadied his shoulder to the rock & roll grindstone. The concert touring continued and continued, entertaining millions and continues now, nationwide and worldwide, and everywhere (concerts, fairs, parks, clubs, colleges, etc.).

The Nutcracker Friday, Dec. 4, 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 5, 2 and 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 6, 2 and 7 p.m.

An annual tradition, The Nutcracker, is a Christmas treat for all ages. Growing trees, spectacular scenery, snow and glitter provide the magic of this lavish production by the renowned Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre.

Follow young Clara and her prince through a fantasy-land of snow queens and dancing candy, all portrayed gracefully by the 32-member company.

Tickets are $25, $20 and $15.

Gatsby Afternoon Is Benefit

The second annual Great Gatsby Afternoon of the American Cancer Society will be held at the Lanam Club in Andover on Sunday, Sept. 27, from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The afternoon will feature barbershop singers, '20's music by Nancy Helinski, drawings for prizes and cash and an assortment of hors d'oeuvres.

According to chairperson Nancy Ardito, a limited number of tickets are still available. Attendees are urged to dress in the Gatsby tradition, though this is optional. Reservations and details are available through Larry Ardito at Toscano & Ardito in Andover or from the American Cancer Society offices in Tewksbury.

Monies raised will be used to support the efforts of the Greater Lawrence Unit of the American Cancer Society in its programs of support and treatment for area cancer patients, instructional programs for students and adults, education of medical professionals in the latest care and treatment techniques and cancer research.

Healthy Back Program Offered

The Andover-North Andover YMCA will hold the Y's Way to a Healthy Back program, designed for those who suffer discomfort and pain in the lower back and need to increase overall flexibility. The program was developed by medical specialists and taught by certified instructors.

The six-week program will begin Tuesday, Oct. 6, and meet twice weekly; Thursday the second evening, at 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Studies indicate 80 percent of back discomfort is attributed to a combination of muscle weakness, stress and tension.

This program is geared for all types of people, including regular exercisers who still suffer back discomfort. Long distance runners have also been helped. For more information, contact Paul King at the YMCA.

Simon Preston Performs At Organ Dedication

Simon Preston

Simon Preston, organist and master of choristers at Westminster Abbey, will perform at the dedication of the Bozeman Organ at South Church, Andover, on Friday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m.

One of the leading organists of our times, Preston is in demand as a concert organist and will perform throughout the United States and Canada during his tour. He began his musical training as a chorister in the choir of King's College, Cambridge. After studying organ at the Royal Academy of Music in London, he returned to King's College as organ scholar and obtained the master of arts and bachelor of music degrees. His career has included organist and tutor in music at Christ Church, Oxford, where he concentrated on lecturing and teaching and on training the Cathedral Choir. Preston was appointed organist and master of the choristers for Westminster Abbey in 1980.

The organ dedication culminates a project which began more than two years ago. The new Bozeman Organ has been built by the George Bozeman Company of Deerfield, N.H., and replaces the South Church organ originally built around the turn of the century for Phillips Academy by Hook and Hastings and moved to South Church in 1931.

Work on the new organ has been on-going since early 1986 when design plans were completed. The old organ was removed in the spring of 1986 so the building could proceed at the Bozeman shop. Pieces of the organ were delivered to South Church in December 1986 and installation, voicing and tuning were completed in March 1987.

A major change involved in the Bozeman Organ is the incorporation of mechanical (tracker) action to replace the old electro-pneumatic action which required the building of a new console, new windchests and some floor work in the church's gallery.

The building of the organ has been supported in part by a grant from the Stevens Foundation of North Andover.

This very special occasion is open to the public. A free will offering will be taken and a reception will follow the performance. For further information, contact the church office.

Completes Outward Bound Course

David Pedini of Andover recently completed Pacific Crest Outward Bound School's 21-day whitewater rafting and mountaineering course for youth ages 14-16 on central Oregon's Deschutes River and Cascade Mountains.

Pedini received hands-on instruction in whitewater paddling, water safety, rock climbing, rappelling and map and compass reading. As in all Outward Bound courses, Pedini also had the opportunity to increase self-confidence, teamwork and leadership skills.

Outward Bound is a non-profit organization dedicated to teaching people self-confidence and inner strength as well as outdoor skills through challenging wilderness adventure. The Outward Bound concept was conceived in Wales during World War II. Pacific Crest Outward Bound School recently celebrated its 20th anniversary.

Whitewater rafting is one of the basic outdoor courses offered. Others include alpine mountaineering, rock climbing and desert backpacking. Outward Bound also offers special programs for women, high school leaders, youth-at-risk, Vietnam veterans and corporate executives.

For Outward Bound course information, contact the Pacific Crest Outward Bound School, 0110 SW Bancroft St., Portland, Ore. 97201.

Jeffrey A. Jones, son of Lewis and Beverly Jones, 166 Salem St., North Andover, has been officially accepted into the U.S. Military Academy's Corps of Cadets as a member of the class of 1991 during the annual acceptance parade.

The parade followed six weeks of rigorous basic cadet training at the West Point, N.Y., academy. Training in military customs and courtesies, drill and physical conditioning, tactical exercises and the firing of weapons introduced the cadets to military life with special emphasis on leadership, duty, honor and country.

The academy is a four-year, educational institution graduating career Army officers.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

As grandparents of a new-born child, you have a tremendous interest in your grandchild, which will affect the parents' and baby's lives in many ways. You (especially if you live close by) provide emotional and often practical support to the new family. You may help with tasks that the new parents are unfamiliar with, or relieve them of responsibilities when they become tired. Having an experienced, concerned adult around will make their day-to-day routine go more smoothly. Your extra help will undoubtedly be welcome; however remember you're entering a new situation - go slow!

There is a complete assortment of baby needs available at THEY TOYLAND. We feature famous makers including Simmons, Childcraft and Bassett. Over 80 cribs are on display. Organ, Synthesizers Combine For Concert Concert organist Earl L. Miller will present a program using a pipe organ and three synthesizers in the Ashburn Chapel at Brooks School, North Andover, on Sunday, Sept. 27, at 4 p.m. This combining of two technologies, the ancient art of pipe organ building and the late-20th century developments in micro-chip sound development, is unique. To date the two instruments are rarely heard together in a classical format and the program Miller has devised may well be a first for the Greater Boston area. Miller presented the first program of this type in Lakeport, N.H.

Although several organists have combined the synthesizer with an organ for additional special effects, Miller is treating the electronic, sound producing keyboards as an orchestra to accompany the school's famous pipe organ. As Miller states, "There is a lot of music literature written during the Baroque and Classical periods for organ and orchestra. Unfortunately, you have to have an orchestra to perform these works." Miller has programmed the synthesizers to play the orchestra parts while he performs the organ solos on a true pipe organ.

His equipment consists of three different electronic keyboards. The most basic element is a Yamaha DX-21, a synthesizer that creates traditional sounds and some amusing sound effects. Miller uses this instrument principally to create the sounds of harpsichord and bells. His second keyboard is an Ensoniq Mirage digital sampling keyboard. This instrument takes actual recorded sounds of live instruments and recreates them digitally. He assigns percussion (timpani), oboes, bassoons and singers, the instrument is actually capable of reproducing the sounds of choirs.

The brain for the entire system is an Ensoniq ESQ-1 digital wave synthesizer and sequencer. This keyboard not only supplies orchestral strings and brass, but also "memorizes" all of the music. "It has a vast memory for notes and not only plays and changes sounds within itself, but also plays the other instruments," Miller explains. One piece on the program is for a synthesizer solo, a set of variations Miller devised based on the tune "Three Blind Mice" in which more than 35 different sounds, traditional and not so traditional will be heard.

Miller believes that the Brooks School concert may well be the first public concert in this state utilizing these instruments in this manner.

The program will begin with a work by the Frenchman Lully, the synthesizers providing brass, percussion and strings, followed by one of W.A. Mozart's church sonatas (Kirchensonaten in C) for organ, two violins, cello and harpsichord.

The 16th-century Italian composer Giovanna Gabrieli created many works for multiple choirs and instruments in the Cathedral of St. Marks, Venice. The Christmas motet, "O Magnum Mysterium," was originally written for a double, eight-part choir. In Miller's arrangement, the Brooks School pipe organ will serve as one of the choirs and the synthesizer the other. Along with strings and brass effects, the Mirage unit will be called upon to sing.

Miller's own composition, "Variations on Three Blind Mice," will be followed by a work written in 1668 by the German composer Bier. This is a rarely heard piece because it requires the use of six trumpets and horns playing different parts with additional cello and timpani parts.

The principal work will be G.F. Handel's Sec-

Exhibit

"Fenway Court - A History of the Building from 1898 to 1987," a special exhibition focusing on the history of the museum building, will be on view at the Gardner Museum, Boston, through Spring 1988.

This unusual exhibition will focus on the history of the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum building, its architect, Willard Sears, and the crucial part Mrs. Gardner played in its inception and design.

The museum is open Tuesday from 12 p.m. to 8 p.m., Wednesday through Friday from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

and Organ Concerto in B-flat. Miller has recreated a Handelian ensemble with violins, cello, oboe, flute, bassoon and harpsichord which accompany the pipe organ which serves as the solo instrument. The program will close with Benedetto Marcello's brass, organ and string composition entitled "Psalm 19."

The concert is free and will be for all age groups.

Duffy In Advanced Studies

Mike Duffy, son of John and Janet Duffy, 3 Eagle Way, Andover, is returning for his senior year at Saint John's Preparatory School after spending six weeks this summer at the Massachusetts Advanced Studies Program.

Duffy was chosen from among more than 400 nominees to attend this state-wide program which is open to outstanding public and parochial school juniors. Held each summer on the campus of Milton Academy, MASP allows students the opportunity for intensive college-level study with college guidance, financial aid planning, college visiting, sports and recreational and cultural activities. Grants from many banks, corporations and philanthropies make it possible for any student selected to attend, regardless of financial need.

Each student chooses a special field of study as well as a writing skills course. Duffy concentrated in organic chemistry and took Exploring the Essay for writing.

Asked to comment on the summer's experience, Mike commented, "MASP was probably the best experience of my life. It was an excellent introduction to the college environment, not only academically, but also socially.

School nominations to the program from this year's junior class will be made in January. Information is available from school guidance offices or from the MASP office at Milton Academy, Milton 02186.

Director

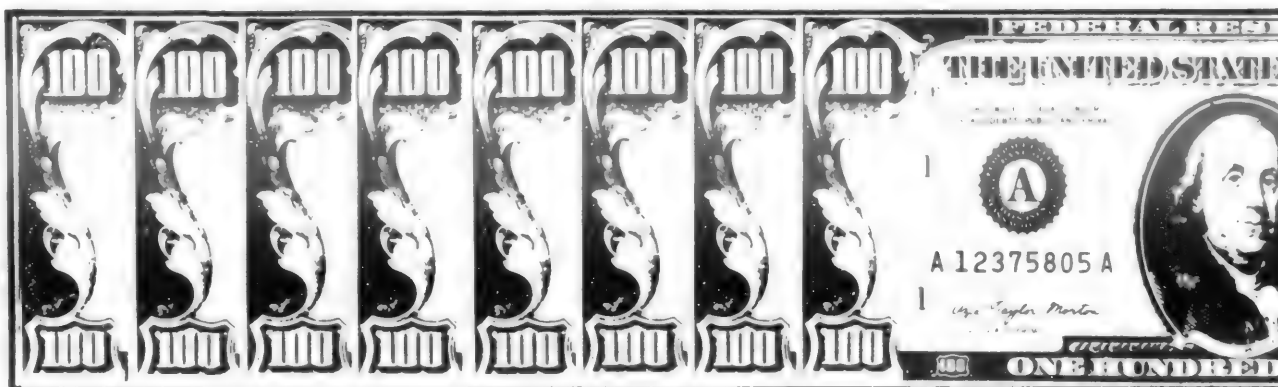

Joseph S. Winning, 122 Abbott St., North Andover, executive vice president of Bank of New England-North in Lawrence, has been elected to the board of directors and treasurer of the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce.

Winning attended his first meeting of the board September 14 and was welcomed to the volunteer position by Richard Hart Harrington, chairman of the board.

As treasurer, Winning is responsible for the safeguarding of all funds received by the chamber and for their proper disposal. The chamber is a voluntary organization of more than 650 business, industrial and professional firms in Andover, North Andover, Lawrence and Methuen. Its purpose is to promote the business interests and economic welfare of the area.

Winning is a graduate of Merrimack College with a degree in economics and of the Stonier Graduate School of Banking.

THE TOWNSMAN, SEPTEMBER 24, 1987

St. Robert's School Opens

The doors opened September 14 at St. Robert's Country Day School for new nursery school children. St. Robert's, a semi-cooperative nursery school in West Andover, begins its 18th year. This year's class includes students from Andover, Tewksbury, Lowell and Lawrence.

Since the school's inception in 1970, the program has expanded to offer three programs; Mini Nursery, a two-day program for children who will be three by August 31 of the school year; regular nursery, a three-day program for four-year-olds; maxi nursery, for older children who miss the kindergarten cut-off date or for who would benefit from an additional year of "growing time." A new program providing extended day activities is also available.

Helen Keegan, education director since 1970, said she's excited about activities planned for this year. Fall activities will include visits to a farm, apple picking, Halloween celebrations and a Thanksgiving feast with a native American who will explain Indian culture and demonstrate Indian dancing.

Plans are underway for the school's major fundraisers on December 5. Families will gather for family portraits on October 3.

A Parents' Board will lead the school this year. Members are Doris and John Maliszewski, co-chairmen; Joyce Rawlinson, registrar; Kathy and Donald Mulligan, treasurers; Lynne Robidoux, secretary; Susan DeLeo, Mary Nadelson, Mary Stearns, refreshments; Jody and Peter O'Hearn, Linda and Roger Young, maintenance; Earlene Costignetti, Liz Mongeau, Lynda Murray, ways and means; Lynn Faust,

Ribbon Cutting Opens Program

Christ Church Children's Center of Andover recently held a ribbon-cutting ceremony to celebrate the opening of their new day care program. Rep. Susan Tucker was assisted in cutting the ribbon by children from the center. They were Andrew Prezkop, son of Thomas Prezkop and Linn Anderson; Jeffrey King, son of Paul and Paula King of North Andover; Elizabeth Edmonds, daughter of Richard and Lynn Edmonds of Andover; and Marisa Young, daughter of Thomas and Judith Young of Andover.

Tucker said she had been following the progress of the new day care program with interest. Tucker, who has served as vice chairman of the education committee, was instrumental in the creation of the Lucretia Crocker Grants and the Chapter 188 Grants which fund enrichment programs to Massachusetts public schools.

She commented on the great need for child care in Andover and commended the Children's Center for responding to that need.

There was a tour of the facility and a reception to thank the many people who had participated in the expansion project.

Selectman Gail Ralston was one of the invited guests to tour the program.

The Children's Center, which used to be called Christ Church Nursery School, is one of the oldest preschools in Andover. It was established in 1969 and, in the last four years, has increased from one nursery school classroom to five part-day nursery school classrooms and three full-day child care classrooms. The Center enrolls children from age 2 years, 9 months to age 5.

Rep. Susan Tucker helps children from the Christ Church Children's Center launch the Center's new day care program.

St. Augustine School's principal, Marie Galinski, signals for quiet on opening day, Sept. 10.

St. Augustine's Resumes

St. Augustine School opened September 10. Eager children hurried to the school yard to renew friendships, make new ones and meet teachers.

The classrooms were spic and span, corridors were freshly painted and wall-to-wall carpeting was newly installed. Thanks go the Parents' Guild for their fund-raising efforts which enabled the school to purchase the carpeting, new musical instruments and science lab equipment.

The annual opening day coffee was a way for parents to begin the school year as well. New parents to the school were welcomed at a wine and cheese reception, which featured a slide presentation by Sister Kathleen Leary.

The Parents Guild is sponsoring a family skate at Roll-On-America in Lawrence September 28 and November 14, a Halloween party October 31, a Communion Breakfast after the 9:30 Mass November 15 and a Christmas Fair for December 5.

New Members Sought

The Merrimack Valley Andover/Abbot Association is looking for new members of its local regional association. Composed of parents, alumni and friends of Phillips Academy, the MVAAA functions in cooperation with the school. Its goals are to give area residents an insight into current activities at Phillips, provide an opportunity to share ideas and concerns and get to know one another on a more informal basis.

Annual dues help underwrite costs of mailings, meetings and sponsored events. The yearly fundraiser makes it possible to provide 10 book scholarships for Merrimack Valley students every year. The MVAAA has started a fund for an endowed tuition scholarship.

This year the group is planning a Log Cabin get-together September 26, a winter "Evening at the Addison" and a spring fundraiser.

For further information, contact Sandra Bertetti, treasurer, 24 Brady Loop.

LLL Reopens

The Learning, Loving, Living Pre-school's opening day, Sept. 14, went off without a hitch, according to the school's publicity director, Carlotta Garden.

Garden reminds parents of upcoming events at LLL: a flea market on Oct. 17 and a Discovery Toy Party on Oct. 22.

Pike Begins With 393 Students

Classes began at The Pike School, Sunset Rock Road, September 16 for 393 students from 31 communities in the Greater Merrimack Valley Area. One hundred sixty-five of those students are from Andover and 74 from North Andover.

Headmaster David A. Frothingham has announced the appointment of nine new faculty members. Jane Beltz is a part-time physical education teacher in the Lower and Upper Schools. She has her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Nebraska and comes to Pike after seven years teaching and coaching in Nebraska.

Paulette Buchanan joins the Middle School as a third-grade homeroom teacher and teaches language arts, social studies and math. Buchanan has her B.A. from the University of Massachusetts and M.S. from the University of Bridgeport. Her most recent teaching experience was at Tenacre Country Day School in Wellesley.

Telva Jorden is teaching first grade. A graduate of Milton Academy and Yale University, she is pursuing a master's degree at Wheelock. Jorden comes from St. Michael's School in Newport, R.I.

Christopher Lynch is a homeroom teacher, member of the math and social studies departments in the Middle and Upper Schools and a coach. He is a graduate of Germantown Academy and Bates College and has been teaching at Tuxedo Park School in Tuxedo Park, N.Y.

Thomas Lynch joins the Upper School faculty as a teacher of science and history, homeroom teacher and coach. He is a graduate of Williams and has taught at Eaglebrook School in Deerfield.

Patricia Niemann is a teacher of French and Spanish. A graduate of the University of Connecticut and in a master's program at the University of Massachusetts, she has taught in the Amherst Public School System.

Stephen Purington is a part-time math teacher in the Upper School and ninth-grade adviser. He has a B.A. from the University of Maine and is pursuing an M.A. at Tufts University. He has taught at the Williston Northampton School and Darrow School and is a coach and dorm master at Phillips Academy.

David Ulfelder is teaching Middle School language arts, social studies and math. He is a fourth-grade homeroom teacher, assisting in the computer lab and coaching in the Upper School. Ulfelder has a B.A. from the College of Wooster and an M.A. from Lesley College.

Christine Wang is a part-time teacher of science in grades six and eight. She holds a B.S. and an M.S. from the University of Wisconsin and has taught at the secondary and college levels.

Pike is an independent, coed, day school and enrolls students in nursery through grade nine.

Kitchen Design

by David A. Clement, Designer

Do you want a large food-preparation area but have limited kitchen floor space? Try a work island on wheels. By mounting a butcher block top on a cabinet super-structure, the entire assembly can be moved around on casters. The space saving feature is a butcher block drop leaf. The leaf can be attached with a piano hinge and held up by wood supports that pull out. The work island can be easily wheeled to the sink or any area within the kitchen. When not in use, the leaf can be dropped and the unit placed against an unused wall to act as a cabinet.

One room that gets renovated the most is the kitchen. It's usually the center of family activity. At WINDSOR KITCHENS we give our clients a remodeling that fits in with their lifestyle.

We have a decorator service available for your walls, lighting and floor covering. We put it all together for you with expert designs, craftsmanship and top notch materials. If you're just in the thinking stages of a remodeling, get into the action stages with us at 1181 Boston Rd., Ward Hill. We're here Wed. 9-8, Thursday 9 to 5:30; Friday 9 to 5:30; Saturday 10 to 2; Sun. Mon. Tues. closed or by appointment Tel. 372-3444.

HANDY HINT:

Be sure to include storage space in any work island.

School Opening Celebrated

Parents, staff and school board members of the Solomon Schechter Day School of the Merrimack Valley celebrated the kickoff of the school year at the home of Mario and Silvia Grosser of 79 Center Street.

The Schechter Day School is a five-year-old regional Jewish elementary school. Founded by a group of parents committed to providing children with a superior educational program that encompasses both general and Judaic studies, the Schechter School promotes a learning atmosphere that is warm and nurturing, personalized and highly motivating.

Students at the school this year come from communities throughout the Merrimack Valley, including Andover, and southern New Hampshire.

Seminar

The Somers Psychological Associates will hold a seminar on the different drugs that are being abused and some of the motivations for drug and alcohol abuse on Monday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. at 789 Turnpike St. (Route 114), North Andover (The Willows Park). Prevention and treatment strategies will also be discussed.

New Hotel Due In Andover

Artist's concept of new Courtyard Motel

A new hotel is coming to Andover.

Marriott hotel division pitches Courtyard hotels as moderately priced. The new hotel will be at the northeast quadrant of the I-93 and River Road interchange and is expected to open in fall 1988.

Marriott has targeted Massachusetts for major Courtyard development and plans to build eight to 10 Courtyard hotels in the state over the next three to five years.

Marriott currently has more than 165 Courtyard sites nationally either open, under construction or under contract, 80 of which will be open by the end of 1987. The company has allotted $3 billion for national expansion plans.

"We see a growing demand for quality, moderately priced lodging in the Andover area and anticipate Courtyard will be very successful here," said Bradford Bryan, executive vice president and general manager for Courtyard by Marriott.

Located on approximately 6.5 acres, the Andover Courtyard hotel will have 146 rooms. Room rates will average high $60s on weekdays and high $40s on weekends. D.C.M. Corp. in Framingham has been selected as general contractor.

Marriott staff say Courtyard rooms are more spacious than most in the moderately-priced segment and offer king-size beds in most rooms. Rooms also feature Courtyard-style comforts

The hills of Stowe, Vermont, come alive with the sound of music when you visit the Trapp Family Lodge on December 6 and 7. The Council on Aging will enjoy Christmas complete with holiday decorations, Christmas carolling with Santa Claus and Elizabeth Van Trapp, a Christmas feast and more. Call 470-3830 for reservations. Payment deadline is October 15.

Special features for business travelers include a large work desk and a telephone with a 25-foot extension cord that reaches the desk and the bed.

Courtyard's strategically placed locations resemble a contemporary residence in their architecture and landscaping.

Courtyard's by Marriott hotels are extensively landscaped with the indoor swimming pool and enclosed courtyard as the focal point of the hotel and most of the rooms. Each hotel offers an exercise room, whirlpool and 100-seat restaurant and lounge operated by Marriott.

The moderate-price category, in which Courtyard is positioned, is one of the largest segments of the domestic lodging market. Courtyard by Marriott hotels are aimed at individual business and pleasure travelers and families.

Courtyard hotels can meet Marriott's high standards while remaining moderately priced by limiting investment in public facilities and using centralized multi-unit management and sophisticated computer systems.

In addition to Courtyard, there are currently more than 160 Marriott hotels and resorts in the United States, Central America, the Caribbean, Europe and the Middle East.

client had presented much more information than other applicants. "I would like to see no further testing...Allegations are being made in the newspapers much to our detriment. It's time to put it to bed."

Board member Carol McDonough, after examining the MEPA letter stating no further investigation was necessary, cited the fact it had been signed by a Mr. Davis rather than Secretary Hoyt, as stated by the developer. Once she was assured this was normal procedure, the hearing moved into the public comment phase.

Resident Sharon Heller, representing the Ballardvale Village Improvement Society, (BVIS), submitted an MBTA map which she said showed the culverts running directly under the railroad tracks, not ending on the proposed housing site. She also submitted numerous photographs depicting flood conditions.

Heller added she felt the I.E.P. environmental report was "rather flimsy" and that the report states "acetone is not a hazardous waste." But when Heller looked up the chemical, she found the federal government had assigned it a number on the list of hazardous materials.

"It may seem to Mr. Glick that we are making mountains out of molehills," she added, but he would not have to live on or near the site. Heller then directed her comments to the abutting rubber plant, Eastern Products, owned by the developers' brothers. While the rubber particles are not expected to leave the Eastern Products site, she said, they can be found "all over Ballardvale; They cover everything."

Concluding her comments for the moment, Heller admonished Glick for "trying to hide behind the fact other projects don't have to do this."

Charlotte Tyning, another BVIS member, then argued that despite the developer's contentions to the contrary, there have been industrial businesses on both the land planned for the condominium development and the adjacent parcel.

"We're not sure even Mr. Mullica received all" of the initial environmental report by Goldberg-Zoino, said Tyning. She added a member of the Andover Housing Partnership committee, familiar with the contents of a 21E environmental study, had stated the I.E.P. report was not a 21E.

Whitney then expressed the board's intention to hire a consultant to decide whether or not further environmental study is warranted. "Pending the report of our consultant, I am going to continue the hearing," he concluded.

Glick contended that "the record is full" and the board should cast a decision on the record as it stands. Explaining that the board "is of limited expertise" Whitney said the hiring of consultants when questions arise is normal procedure.

Glick stated that his client may or may not be willing to continue the hearing further, and he wished to consult with his clients before agreeing. Whitney called a short recess.

When Whitney resumed the hearing, Glick stated "our strong objection to that process"—to the proposed continuance and the hiring of a consultant by the town. Glick contended any consultant could easily state there were more tests that could be done, and his client was unwilling to give the town "carte blanche" to do further testing. Glick added "there is an unfairness here...you have not required any such procedure" for other comprehensive permit developers.

"Right or wrong," said Whitney, "that is the way I'm going to do it."

When Glick continued to argue, stating the board was reacting to the "erroneous allegations of others," Board member Jane Griswold responded.

"We have concerns that we need to resolve, so we need time" for further investigation, she stated sharply.

"If you people don't like what we do," challenged Whitney, "you have the power of appeal."

"This is a carte blanche to raise additional issues," Glick reiterated. He then asked that his engineer be involved with the review. Whitney mused that if their engineer were going to be involved, maybe Penney and resident should also be involved. This, said Whitney would only drag the process out over a longer span of time.

Board member Roger Collins then commented the town's hiring of a consultant would actually be in the best interest of the developer. When there is a town official stating there is a problem and an applicant who says there is not, said Collins, "I think we're trying to be fair to you."

As Glick contended once again that there was no hazardous waste problem to be addressed, Griswold curtly commented "Then there's no concern—is there?"

Glick answered that the procedure was, in effect, "The judge hiring its own jury and witnesses" and "takes away any objectivity the board had." Glick then asked that the continued hearing be closed and the board render a decision based only on the materials submitted by the close of this night's meeting.

Whitney then continued the public hearing to October 27, again receiving objection from the applicant.

"That is not satisfactory," commented Glick. Whitney countered the six week layover was necessary in order to obtain

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Dorothy Winn

Fall classes at the Andover Senior Center begin September 28. If you haven't registered yet, call 470-3830 to be sure there is still room in the class you want.

Monday, Sept. 28, is cheese distribution day in Andover. Residents age 60 and older who returned their cheese registration forms by September 16 will be able to pick up 5 lbs. of cheese, 5 lbs. of flour, 2 lbs. of rice and 1 lb. of butter at the senior center from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Cheese will be distributed on Tuesday at 9 a.m. for non-registered residents over the age of 60 who provide social security numbers, proof of age and proof of residency.

Volunteers are needed for the Concil on Aging bake sale on Monday, Sept. 28, which will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Donations of cakes, cookies, breads, brownies, etc. are welcome. Proceeds benefit the Andover Senior Center activities fund.

Timely Topics, a new program, begins Thursday, Oct. 1, at 10:30 a.m. Pat Wood, R.N. of Lifestyle Interventions, will speak on "Walk Your Way to Better Health." Learn the benefits of one of life's simplest exercises which can improve flexibility and cardiovascular health. Refreshments will be served.

Applications for fuel assistance through the Greater Lawrence Community Action Energy Program will be taken at the senior center on Friday, Oct. 30. Call 470-3830 for an appointment. Individuals and families who meet the following income guidelines may be eligible: 1 person household income limit $9,625; 2 person household income limit $12,950; 3 person household income limit $13,950. Applicants should bring a copy of their most recent heating bill, a copy of Social Security and SSI or other pension checks.

Sen. Patricia McGovern has announced that Todd Johnson of her staff will be at the senior center Monday, Oct. 19, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. to assist constituents and answer questions about state government.

The Internal Revenue Service is looking for volunteers to take the tax training program and provide income tax assistance to senior citizens at senior centers throughout the Merrimack Valley. Are you aware there have been major changes in the tax laws and reporting procedures? Even the tax forms are undergoing major revisions. Volunteers who pass the tax exam will be asked to assist senior citizens with their tax returns from February to April. Interested volunteers should call Dan Madio of Elder Services at 1-800-892-0890.

The Council on Aging Hawaii trip is filled, however, room on other trips is available. Hotel and bus reservations for group tours must be made in advance, therefore, you must make your reservations early to guarantee space.

If Bingo is your game, you won't want to miss the trip to the Oneida Indian Nation Bingo game in upstate New York on October 21 and 22. The trip includes deluxe accommodations at the Best Western Hotel in Rome, N.Y., buffet dinner and an evening Bingo session of approximately 20 games, breakfast to prepare you for another session of Bingo before returning to Andover. Reservations must be paid by October 5.

School Culture Program Offers New Spirit Of Cooperation

By Lewis C. Howe

Students returning to Andover public schools should notice a new spirit of cooperation this year, thanks to a concentrated effort by administration and staff to promote "school culture."

"If you provide a caring environment among adults, it will filter down to the children," stated Iora Alexander, principal of the Bancroft Elementary School. "Sometimes we get so caught up in academics and expectations in a community like Andover, it's easy to forget the humanistic side of education."

Dr. Kenneth Seifert, Superintendent of Schools, has made development of school culture one of his four major goals for the system during 1987-88. "Stronger school culture" is also this year's theme for West Junior High. "The key to this is to enhance teacher job satisfaction," said Tom McKenna, a guidance counselor at West. McKenna was one of approximately 30 Andover teachers and administrators who attended a two-day seminar titled "Building School Culture" last spring at Regis College, Weston.

According to Jon Saphier, who directed the seminar, "strong school culture is the foundation of school improvement and better learning." The philosophy of "school culture" is that "good seeds grow in strong cultures."

The program lists twelve behavior patterns that affect school culture, including collegiality, experimentation, high expectations, trust and confidence and tangible support.

Other blocks in the foundation of school culture are reaching out to knowledge bases, appreciation and recognition of others, caring, celebration and humor, involvement of staff in decision making, protection of what's important, traditions, and honest, open communication.

Martha Walsh, a second-grade teacher at Sanborn Elementary, explained the list is not "a dictated how-to doctrine," but rather a set of "building blocks" for each school to consider individually. "This is a K-12 program for the entire town," she stated, "but it will be different at every school."

At Sanborn, Walsh said, "we have chosen to concentrate on tangible support this year." She defined tangible support at Sanborn as a commitment to sufficient classroom materials.

For example, Walsh commented, "for our reading program, Eileen Woods (Sanborn principal) made sure every child had their own book. This goes for every program we initiate."

At West Elementary, Assistant Principal Charles Friel said support of fellow professionals, or collegiality, will be one aspect of school culture stressed this year. Friel sees this as a "means to get teachers to share successful practices with each other, for the betterment of all." Interaction between teachers should go beyond occasional staff meetings, he noted, and "interaction, such as the gathering of materials to make the teachers' job easier, is something we in the administration will support."

Alexander also cited collegiality as a priority at Bancroft. "So often, teaching becomes an isolated job," she said. "Now, we want to provide greater opportunity to allow teachers to go into each other's classrooms and learn from each other."

This system of "peer coaching" could involve a number of initiatives, Alexander indicated. "A second grade teacher could go into a third grade class that she is feeding students into to see how her work prepares them for what is covered later." The principal said "better communication between classes" will be pursued, as well as better overall communication within the school.

School culture, Alexander added, is "something that is part of what you do every day."

"I object," reiterated Glick.

Standing to leave the meeting Whitney raised his head, smiled, and said "Thank you."

Culture

We're not going to be saying 'put your books down, it's time to be nice to each other.' It just means having teachers compliment each other, complimenting the support staff, like the custodians who keep the place clean." Children learn from observation, she said, "and they can't help from benefit from this."

Walsh agreed a more positive attitude among adults "filters down to the students," and she noted "this program affects students, parents, teachers, custodians, the whole support staff, in a positive way."

Walsh cautioned against unrealistic expectation for school culture. "It's not an overnight thing," she commented. "To properly implement all of these goals will take eight to ten years."

One aspect of school culture that may cause some difficulty, Walsh said, would be staff involvement in decision making. "We'll be all right," she remarked, "as long as people realize 'involvement' isn't the same thing as making the decisions. The final decision still belongs to the principal on many matters."

McKenna said he would like to see members of the school committee, parents, and "a better cross-section of the community" more involved in school culture. Alexander said another seminar for more local educators is planned for next year.

In the interim, Alexander added, the Andover school culture committee ("we don't have an official name, it's quite informal") will hold another meeting on September 30 to report on the initiative's progress. She is also planning "some nice get-togethers" for Bancroft personnel to promote a community atmosphere there.

"This type of thing in the schools was long overdue" said Walsh. "Having 'school culture' is really nothing new, it just comes from working together with people for a long time, and communicating openly with them." She praised Woods for "strong leadership" in this direction, reiterating "we're very open and honest here."

Or, as Alexander put it, "education is about caring for people. If we can't develop that in a service-oriented profession, it can't happen anywhere."

Post Office Applications

The U.S. Postal Service is accepting applications for the examination for future distribution clerk, machine, vacancies at the Middlesex-Essex General Mail Facility in Woburn.

Individuals in this position are required to operate a machine which sorts and distributes letters. GI Home Loans

The Veterans Administration wants veterans to know that they should seek VA's assistance if they have fallen behind in their GI home loan mortgage payments.

The first step for a veteran experiencing mortgage payment difficulties, VA advises, is to contact the lender and make arrangements to bring the loan up to date.

If an agreement with the lender cannot be reached, the veteran should ask for assistance from the nearest VA regional office.

VA counselors can sometimes develop a payment plan that will be acceptable to the mortgage company or may advise the selling of the property to protect the veteran's equity.

When a veteran defaults on a VA-guaranteed loan, the VA may have to pay the lender a claim of 60 percent of the loan amount up to $27,500. Defaults of VA-guaranteed loans have risen in recent years, partly because of high interest rates in the early 1980s and partly because of setbacks in the agriculture and oil industries.

Some foreclosures agreements with the lenders or veteran-initiated sale avoided through

Women & Custody

If you are separated from your husband and are concerned that your husband may intend to fight you for custody of your children, you may be hesitant to date, socialize or pursue a career because you are afraid you will lose your children if you do. If you have been the primary caretaker of your children before or since the separation, the standard which a Court will apply to determine which parent shall be awarded custody—the best interest of the children—does not necessarily require you to make drastic changes in your life style or your career.

Patricia A. Doherty, daughter of Leo J. and Grace M. Doherty of 11 Buxton Court, and David M. Bronson, son of Henry G. and Mildred G. Bronson, Jr. of 8 Royal Crest Drive in North Andover were married May 2 at Cochran Chapel on the Phillips Academy campus.

The Rev. Philip Zaeder officiated.

Maid of honor was Sheila Murphy. Bridesmaids were Ana Christie, Cathy Sharp, Debbie Waldie and Debbie Baracchini. Flower girl was Jennifer Bronson.

Best man was Bill Calthorpe. Ushers were Barry, Brian and Henry Bronson and Michael and Stephen Doherty. Junior usher was Mark E. Murphy, Jr.

After a reception at Casa di Fior, the couple took a wedding trip to Florida.

The bride, who is currently attending Northern Essex Community College, works at Raytheon Service Co. in Burlington. Her husband graduated from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

The couple lives in Methuen.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crampton

Crampton-Baker

Jennifer M. Baker and John D. Crampton were married at the Brooks School Chapel. A reception followed at the Sheraton-Tara in Danvers.

Lynn Rabenius of Boxford was maid of honor, and Christopher Crampton of Florida, brother of the groom, was best man.

Other attendants were Lisa Riley of Newburyport, Mary Ellen Keyes of Brighton and Lindsay Crampton of Tiringham. Ushers were John E. Baker, III of Danvers, Steven Baker of Boxford and Scott Crampton of Colorado.

The couple took a wedding trip to St. Croix.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Baker, Jr. of Boxford, is a graduate of Masconomet Regional High School and Marian Court Junior College of Business. She is an administrator for Boston CADD Systems Inc.

The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Crampton of Salem, N.H. and graduated from Brooks School and Northeastern University. He is enrolled in a graduate program this fall at Boston Bouve College.

The couple lives in Reading.

Andrea Ipri

Ms. Ipri is a graduate of Andover High School and Fazio Institute of Beauty Culture. She is employed by Northeast Refrigerated Distributing Co. in Tewksbury.

Mr. Tillotson is a graduate of Shawsheen Valley Regional Technical High School and attended the University of Lowell. He works for General Electric in Lynn.

A Dec. 12 wedding is planned.

Joanne Smith

Smith Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Smith of 14 Brady Loop announce the engagement of their daughter, Joanne Patricia, to Mark Joseph LaPlante, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. LaPlante of 107 Sandra Lane in North Andover.

Miss Smith, a graduate of Andover High School and Northeastern University Boston Bouve College, is a physical therapist at Southern New Hampshire Physical Therapy Clinic in Salem, N.H.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Ygnacio Valley High School in Concord, Calif. and is a foreman at Pine Grove Tree and Landscaping Co. in Andover.

They plan to marry in Kennebunkport, Maine Aug. 27, 1988.

Edwards-Rees

Caroline Bridgman Rees and Thomas Rees, formerly of Andover, announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothea Eaglesfield Rees, to William Seeber Edwards. The wedding took place July 25 at St. Luke's and St. Margaret's Episcopal Church in Boston.

Ms. Rees, a graduate of Abbot Academy and Bryn Mawr College, is a programmer/analyst at Cardinal Data Corp. in Needham. Mr. Edwards, brother of Barbara Edwards Diamond of Andover and brother-in-law of Christ Church Rector James Diamond, is a graduate of Loomis School, Brown University and Harvard Divinity School. He works as a systems programmer/analyst at Harvard University.

The couple lives in Cambridge.

Getting Married? Tell the TOWNSMAN

Forms may be picked up at the TOWNSMAN offices, 89 North Main St., Andover. They should be returned to the office as soon as possible.

They must be typed or printed clearly and accompanied by phone numbers of either the bride or groom in case the editors have any questions.

Photographs, preferably black and white, may be submitted. Their owners will be able to pick them up any time after date of publication.

The TOWNSMAN publishes wedding and engagement announcements when space is available.

Lesley College

A Merrimack Valley reception for Lesley College alumni, parents and friends in this area will be held Thursday, Oct. 15, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the home of Vicki F. Novick, 15 Blueberry Hill Road, Andover.

Provost Pamela Menke will be the speaker. This will be the first formal gathering of undergraduate alumni and graduate school alumni from Lesley College living in the Merrimack Valley.

Spouses are also invited.

Contact Novick or Lesley College by October 5.

Lawrence High School

The Lawrence High School Class of 1953 will hold their first meeting to plan their 35th reunion Tuesday, Sept. 29 at 7 p.m. at the Lawrence Savings Bank Community Room, North Main St., Andover.

Anyone interested in being on the committee is invited to attend.

Junior Gardeners Begin Year Of Learning Oct. 3

The Andover Junior Garden Club announces its 1987-88 program will begin Saturday, Oct. 3, at 10 a.m. at the New England Bay State Bank's club room, downstairs. There will be registration and Mrs. Cowdery of Pelham, N.H. will demonstrate the fine art of dried apple head dollmaking. Each child will have the opportunity to make one or more apple heads and do the drying process at home. Parent pickup will be 11 a.m.

The membership is open to all school children in grades 3-7. Boys and girls meet the first Saturday of each month through May to explore different areas of horticulture and flower appreciation. This year's activities will include bulb planting, making Christmas box-wood trees, a field trip to study birds, lei making and pineapple planting, topiary animals and living wreaths, flower arranging and a spring walk and picnic at Ward Hill. Guests are welcome to come with members.

SS Register

The Postal Service recently announced Selective Service registration requirements for employment. Under the new guidelines, men 18-25 years of age must show proof of registration before being considered for a position. Men who fail to provide proof of registration will be considered "not available" and receive no further consideration for employment.

This requirement follows the Thurmond/Montgomery Amendment to the Fiscal Year 1986 Department of Defense Authorization Act. The amendment prohibits a young man who is required to register from being appointed to a position in an executive agency of the federal government unless he has registered.

All young men must register with Selective Service at any local post office within 30 days of their 18th birthday. Failure to register is a felony punishable by up to five years in prison and/or up to a $250,000 fine.

Fall Crops

Native vegetables to look for this season include cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and carrots.

Cabbage has always been an important vegetable in New England; the Colonists included it in their "boiled dinner."

There are several different types of cabbage: red cabbage, green rinky-leaved Savoy cabbage, green smooth-leaved cabbage and long, tapered Chinese cabbage (which actually belongs to the mustard family). Cabbage is low in calories and a good source of vitamin C.

Carrots, members of the parsley family, were grown in New England as early as the mid-1600s. The first varieties, which resembled the present-day, cultivated types, were grown in the Arab countries. They were originally purple, though some yellow-green varieties existed. By the mid-18th century, the orange-yellow carrot had superseded the purple kind. Carrots are low in calories with high amounts of vitamin A. Broccoli, a member of the cabbage family, is closely related to cauliflower. Low in calories, it is a good source of vitamin A and an excellent source of vitamin C.

Shannon Addresses AHS

Students, Staff Celebrate Constitution's Birthday

By Lewis C. Howe

Andover High School students and staff packed the Collins Center Thursday morning to celebrate America's real bicentennial—the 200th Anniversary of the ratification of the U.S. Constitution.

Dr. Kenneth Seifert, superintendent of schools, said the all-school assembly, featuring an address by Massachusetts Attorney General James Shannon, was just one of many activities designed to educate students about our nation's history.

Four lawyers from the Massachusetts Bar Association led Social Studies classes in discussions of constitutional law, Seifert said, and essay contests were taking place in English classes. "We also will choose one Andover High student as a John Hancock scholar next February," he added. This student will join colleagues from other Massachusetts High Schools to reenact the signing of the state constitution next year.

Seifert introduced Shannon to the students as a man who "has had a positive impact on behalf of the consumer." While serving as the Commonwealth's top lawyer, the superintendent commented, Shannon has "been at the forefront of issues such as telephone rates, auto insurance, and the problem of nuclear waste disposal."

The attorney general's 20-minute speech emphasized the guaranteed personal freedoms allotted under the Constitution, and the document's limitations on governmental authority.

"The first ten amendments—the Bill of Rights—put limits on the government, thereby protecting our basic rights," Shannon stated. "You and I freely go to our own churches or synagogues without fear of interference by anyone. Or we can stay home and not go at all. It says so in the Bill of Rights."

The Separation of Powers under the Constitution, Shannon told the students, was devised by our Founding Fathers to answer "one central question: who should have power, and how much?" The system of checks and balances was developed, he continued, to give specific authority to all three branches of government, while making certain none of these "got out of hand."

The resulting Constitutional Democracy was "a government that would hold together under fire," Shannon said. The new government, the Attorney General remarked, "was a system that would survive fierce domestic conflict—a devastating civil war, presidential assassinations, the Great Depression, the battles over voting rights and civil rights, the tragedies of McCarthyism, Vietnam and Watergate."

Shannon praised the Constitutional amendment process for correcting "unfinished business" not included in the original document. "It took decades of struggle and a civil war that tore our country in half, but in 1865 the 13th Amendment made slavery unconstitutional. And the 15th and 20th amendments said that people of color, and all women, had a right to participate in our democracy—the right to vote."

The role of the Supreme Court in upholding the constitution was also reviewed by the Attorney General. "The Framers wrote down some general principles. It was the courts, they said, who would make sure that these principles were properly applied over time."

Shannon reflected on changes in the court because of the Judicial Review process. He referred to the Plessy vs. Ferguson case of 1896, which upheld segregation, as an example of how slow progress has been for minorities in the United States. "It wasn't until 1954 (Brown vs. Board of Education) that the Court reversed this position," Shannon commented.

Since then, he noted, "the Court has come to be a strong force in assuring that no American is denied the promises in the Constitution of liberty, justice and equality."

Injecting partisan politics into his oratory, Shannon made veiled references to Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork. "There is some cause for concern," he said. "There are people today who want to turn back the clock. Through the courts or with Constitutional amendments, they seek to narrow or repeal some of our most basic rights."

State Attorney General James Shannon speaks with School Superintendent Kenneth Seifert after an assembly at the Collins Center Thursday to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the Constitution's ratification. In his speech to high school students and staff, Shannon emphasized the personal freedoms the Constitution guarantees.

Young people, Shannon concluded, should "seize the opportunity to stand up and express your point of view." He urged the students to become active in politics and to become more generally politically aware. "Your decisions and your actions," he said, "will help determine what condition the Constitution will be in when you pass it on to the generations that will follow you."

Andover High student Shawn Lynch, who described himself as "politically interested," said he found Shannon's address "quite interesting." Student Don Mathias characterized the assembly as "worthwhile" for students hoping to learn more about American history.

As part of the Bicentennial celebration, students in Social Studies were asked to review ten Supreme Court cases and render decisions in classroom discussion.

Attny. John Flemming, of Sarrouf, Terricone and Flemming of Boston, led a third-period class in a discussion of student rights, based on a 1985 privacy case involving a New Jersey teenager who was discovered smoking marijuana following a search of her purse by an assistant principal. The Court ruled the administrator acted within limits in the search, as there was "reasonable" cause.

The ten-case exercise included Supreme Court decisions on Freedom of Speech (Spence Vs. Washington), Abortion (Maher Vs. Roe, Harris Vs. MacRae) and the Bakke Vs. California case which upheld preferential treatment for minorities as a consideration in admission to the Berkeley medical school.

Flemming also discussed the role of politics in selecting Supreme Court Justices. "There is an incredible polarization occurring on Individual Rights on the Supreme Court," he said. "That's why so many people are concerned about Judge Bork."

Vandals Destroy Picnic Tables At Rec Park

By Lewis C. Howe

Vandals destroyed eleven picnic tables at Rec Park near Pumps' Pond Saturday night in what Joan Pearson, Director of Community Services, called "the largest single destructive event that has occurred there in the past couple of years."

The tables were reportedly broken apart, with the jagged pieces piled up, Pearson stated, "as though those who did it wanted to start a bonfire."

"It's a real shame," Pearson said, referring to the estimated $1,500 in damage inflicted by unknown perpetrators during the early hours of Sunday morning. "These things happen after midnight. What on earth are these people doing in the middle of the night smashing tables to smithereens?"

Wayne Nader, the Andover Animal Control Officer who moonlights as a part-time security guard for the site, said "the trouble is not the neighborhood. Most people in that area are families—people with little kids."

Nader was not on duty during the weekend incident, saying he is not required to patrol the park when it rains. Pearson said the town does not plan to hire a full-time security officer because "we already spend what we feel is a reasonable amount" to protect the area. With present budget constraints, she continued, it is not practical to "have someone there 24 hours a day." If the problem were more severe, the community service director pointed out, such steps might be taken. "If we had constant vandalism totaling in the thousands of dollars, it would be different," she explained.

Pearson said it was "ironic" that the vandals chose to strike while Nader was off-duty. "The teenagers, and people in their young twenties, don't hang around there as much now that we have someone around," she noted. "There is less litter and the park is under control more now."

Nader said he makes several spot-checks of the park each night, and he believes he acts as a deterrent to many potential acts of mischief. "A lot of times people will see my vehicle parked there and leave," he said. "Of course, that depends on what they're planning to do."

The officer said many residents use the park for legitimate recreational purposes like tennis or basketball. "It's a small, small minority who abuse it."

Nader acknowledged the park used to be a common party spot "years ago," but added "you can't place the blame on any particular person or group. You can't just say 'it's those kids again.'"

The officer added, "I honestly don't know what to do about it."

Pearson was also at a loss to combat the situation. "This is the third rainy night since the spring where this type of thing has happened," she commented. "The police are very cooperative. They're swinging by whenever (Nader) isn't down there. It's just that every so often on a rainy night this will happen."

When asked what the town could do to prevent future vandalism at Rec Park, Pearson responded "not much."

The River's Edge

Approximately 25 people from Andover, Tewksbury, Wilmington and Billerica got together last Saturday to help the Shawsheen Watershed Environmental Action Team clean up the Shawsheen River. The all-volunteer group met at the Tewksbury Rod and Gun Club for breakfast before setting out by foot and canoe to clear paper, bottles, tires, shopping carts and one moped from the river, which flows through Andover. Tewksbury's Department of Public Works provided trucks and dumpsters to haul the garbage away. Despite their efforts, SWEAT is more worried about they can't see, according to the group's founder and former director, Bob LeBoeuf, who says there may be chemical contaminants in the river.

OPINION

THE TOWNSMAN, SEPTEMBER 24, 1987

A Loss To Andover

Andover, as a community, suffered a significant loss this past week with the death of William A. Doherty, 82, whose life was dedicated to the town and particularly to its education program.

He was a family man to be sure, but it was his interest in fostering the best educational program possible for Andover's young people that stands out.

He served on the Andover school committee for 39 years, establishing a record for continuous service, believed to be the longest in the state.

His election to the school committee in 1931 is an interesting one, giving full indication of his dedication to his native community.

In those days the press was barred from school committee and other meetings in Andover. The closed-door policy was rampant in that period of Andover's history. So, Bill Doherty decided to do something about it. He ran and was elected to the board. Doherty at the time was the Andover correspondent for the Lawrence Eagle-Tribune, thus the public became aware of what was happening in their public schools.

Since that time there have been such things as open-meeting laws which are designed to insure openness in public meetings. The laws provide some leverage for closed sessions under particular circumstances, but Bill Doherty through to his final meeting on the Andover school committee, never voted to go behind closed doors.

His biggest concern was in providing adequate housing for the school's education system.

He had a general feeling that the town was too interested in saving money rather than building adequate facilities, and to this end, Doherty continually made his thoughts known and generally succeeded in providing the town with a solid building.

He was prime mover in the creation of the Collins Center for the Performing Arts, although his sincere feeling that the structure was not big enough failed to win adjustment in the final planning stages.

Failing health prevented him from presiding over luncheon meetings at Ford's in downtown Andover during which Bill would expound on a variety of subjects. In most cases, Bill's thoughts generally were provocative, his predictions accurate, his advice well taken.

He was an ardent follower of Andover High athletics. Among his more notable accomplishments was support of the Punchard-Andover All-Girl Marching band of the era preceding the current high school musical unit.

He was a dedicated and devout member of St. Augustine's parish.

About the only thing Bill failed to accomplish was the installation of a swimming pool in the new high school. But, he got rocks removed from playfields, he insured adequate and quality construction of new schools as well as other public buildings, and continuously sought quality education for all levels.

Bill Doherty was that type of person whose dedication to public service is a rarity. He will be missed by a grateful Andover community.

DOWN THE YEARS

75 Years Ago — September 1912

It is reported that a meteorite weighing over fifty pounds fell last week on the farm of W.N. Pike in West Andover.

A small pamphlet entitled "The Holy Communion and the Real Presence," written by Dr. Frederic Palmer, has recently been issued.

Rally day exercises will be held at the Baptist Church next Sunday morning. Every member of the Sunday school, from the Cradle Roll up to the Home Department, is urged to be present.

Foundations have been laid on Essex street for a lunch-room, to be conducted by the present proprietor of the lunch-cart there.

At the meeting of the Board of Registrars held in the town house last Friday evening, fourteen new names were added to the voting list.

50 Years Ago — September 1937

Rev. Lorentz I. Hanesen, pastor of the Andover Baptist Church since February, 1931, became the fourth Andover clergyman to vacate his pulpit this year when he tendered his resignation on Sunday.

Action on a suggestion to change the opening school age here to conform to that of surrounding towns was postponed to the spring by the school committee Monday night in a special session.

Andover's Arbroathians will play host to the Arbroathians of Massachusetts on Saturday night at a get-together in the town hall.

Andover will go to the polls on Tuesday to participate in the Congressional battle between Edward D. Sirois, Republican of Lawrence, and Lawrence P. Connery, Democrat from Lynn.

The state returns to Eastern Standard time on Sunday morning. Clocks should be set back one hour.

25 Years Ago — September 1962

Andover may have a new high school by 1965, or even sooner. Steps leading to the request for an appropriation were to be made at last night's school committee meeting, following hard on the heels of a recommendation that a full appropriation of $2.3 million be sought in 1963.

Francis J. Mooney has been named "acting postmaster," and will presumably be named the permanent postmaster after taking a civil service examination.

Just A Thought

By Bob Finneran

Haven't done Saturday banking in Andover since can't remember when.

Seems it just became too precarious to attempt to straighten out the family finances, do a little socializing and then hit the coffee and doughnuts.

Thoroughly stopped the practice a few years ago when reaching for a honey dip, I took a shot in the ribs that I hadn't felt since I retired from feeble attempts at basketball, which was a long time ago.

But, when Bank of Boston announced a couple of weeks ago they were putting on a kind of Saturday morning party with jazz bands and everything, decided to risk it once again.

This time escaped unbruised, but found that conditions haven't changed much.

That 'something for nothing' attraction brings out the best.

For instance, I glanced at the driveway heading out to Central street and saw one of Andover's finer young lads attempting to escape with about 15 of the one-per-customer frisbees which were adorning a table.

A bank officer informed the lad that he could only have one, with the young, budding legal talent informing the guy in charge of paying for all this stuff that he had a right to supply his neighbors and relatives in the interest of fostering the name of the bank.

Then, of course, there was the free, 'make your own sundae' tent. Well, you should see these frustrated soda jerks (whole families of them) delving into the frozen confection, decorating it with toppings of all description and finishing it off with whipped cream and nuts. I mention this only because if they had to pay for it, the tent would have been empty and they would have been home urging the kids to watch cartoons.

There was, of course, a happy note in all this. Neil McGovern, bank vice president, was passing out popcorn to passersby and it was difficult to tell who was enjoying it more, those receiving the waxed cup full of hot buttered corn or McGovern, who had a handful for himself in the process of filling the cups.

And, for those ice cream lovers the day wasn't complete when the New Liberty Jazz Band drove off, closing the festivities.

Later, Emack and Bolio, a new ice cream parlor in Elm Square, introduced themselves to Andover by giving out free cones which attracted most of the bank crowd, plus a lot of others, who may have been unaware that the frozen confection was available in the morning. Banks are more inclined toward coffee.

Just returned from Sturbridge and a convening of newspaper-type people from around New England. A refreshing weekend, having withstood the rigors of the monsoon season.

The Village is a nice place to perambulate and see how life was way back when, but don't give me that stuff about the 'good old days.'

No lights, cooking by wood, etc. Those people ate very well, primarily because they couldn't see what they were eating.

The topper, of course, about 'the good old days' is that little shack in the back yard with the crescent moon on the door to which one traversed at odd and sundry hours at 20 below zero to respond to nature's calls.

I'll take the computer age anytime in comparison to those good days.

The Village is nice and the people accommodating, but beyond that and the Publick House, there isn't an awful lot of excitement.

Like Saturday afternoon we went downtown and watched little old ladies dye their hair blue.

Next Saturday the big event is in Southbridge from 3 to 4 on Saturday when everyone goes to the village barbershop to watch haircuts.

Just to conclude, upon returning, Monday A.M., attempted to pull into my private parking space, which had just been occupied by a young mother brandishing an infant in her arms.

She informed me she would only be five minutes, which leaves me in the middle of North Main Street. But then looking at the windshield there was a fuzz-buster. Believe me I'm not fooling around with a desperado who takes on the entire constabulary even though I do own the parking space.

I drove around the block.

The Public Forum

Honesty, Truth, Trust Needed

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

I have sat back over the last six weeks and let your paper print inaccuracies about things I have said and slanderous editorials about my intentions and character and have remained silent, but I will not sit back and let your character assassinations now turn to the residents of Andover because they have chosen to support me.

No resident of Andover I have ever talked to is against affordable housing. In fact, many of the people that support me are elderly and of modest means themselves. To say that Andover residents want to "put up a fence to keep the rest of the world away" is totally inaccurate and shows that the writer of the editorial of September 17, 1987, doesn't bother to research both sides but uses his or her position on the paper to try to persuade others to his or her prejudiced views. Andover already has over 400 low-income housing units while many towns have none.

The residents of Andover are not bigots or snobs and not only are willing to see affordable housing built, but want it. They don't want, however, high density developments that overtax our schools and infrastructure, ruin the character of neighborhoods and jeopardize our environment. They want small-scale developments using architecture that fits in with existing neighborhoods and placed on parcels of land that have the infrastructure to support them. The question arises, "Should the town develop its affordable housing the way its residents want or should it give in to builders' demands for large-scale, high-density developments?" I feel we can stay with well-designed, small-scale developments and still provide developers with sufficient profits to make the project worthwhile economically.

In my opinion, the entire affordable housing issue has been mishandled in this town. My dismissal from the Housing Partnership Committee was handled just as poorly. Mr. Mahony knows very well I am not against affordable housing. I was not even given a chance to defend myself before my removal.

The real issue here is not housing, but honest, truth and trust. For people to trust their government officials, they have to be told the truth, honestly and openly.

In closing, may I suggest that your paper not be so easily deceived and so quick to label the town as a snob town with a bad attitude. Andover is filled with honest, decent folk who only ask for truth from their government and a fair chance to be heard. To me, Andover is such a nice town because of its good people.

George Danneman, Jr.

Tribute

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Six years ago the faculty and student body of East Junior High School moved into a newly renovated building. Many were unwilling to forsake the East name for a new one. That is, until the ribbon cutting ceremony when they met a man who won their hearts through his sincerity and warmth. That man was William Doherty. No longer was the junior high a building on the east side of town. It was a school with character, with a renewed commitment to education, with a student body challenged to serve the town that had served them so well.

In subsequent years, Mr. Doherty's presence in the school and at ninth grade final assemblies secured the bond between him and the student body and faculty. Annually he has presented the Doherty citizenship award given to a ninth grader who best exhibits the qualities of commitment and service.

With Mr. Doherty's passing, the student body, faculty and staff will continue to perpetuate the ideals embodied in his legacy of commitment and service. May his legacy live on in future generations who attend a school that takes pride in its name, a school with character, a school on the east side of town called Doherty Junior High School.

Appreciative

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

Allow me to express my thanks and appreciation to the nearly 100 children, youth and adults who participated in the auditions for the upcoming Andover Theatre Company production of "Annie." The introduction of a new auditioning method and the overwhelming response to the audition call were both met with enthusiasm and patience.

The selection of the cast has been a difficult task, especially for this show. The process of finding the best candidates for specific roles demanded that the director and casting committee work together closely.

Regardless of the outcome, I hope that the auditioning experience has been both positive and beneficial for all participants. The sharing of your talents and time were deeply appreciated.

"Golf," Mark Twain once said, "is a good walk spoiled." Apparently, a lot of Andover residents don't agree.

More than 100 golfers showed up for Barron's Country Store-sponsored golf classic, to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. The money the store raised for the hospital hasn't been tallied yet.

First-prize winners at the classic were Thomas Glynn and his son, Dennis, of 22 Strawberry Hill Road, Todd Tagget and John Ronan.

Booters Top Chelmsford

By Scott Frieze

Since August 31, the Andover High School boys' varsity soccer squad has been training every day, two hours each session, two sessions each day, working at developing a team capable of defending last year's MVC crown. It all paid off as Andover defeated MVC rival, Chelmsford, 5-0 under the lights at Chelmsford.

With the strong, aggressive Tim Hagerty and Jim Murphy heading the center of Andover's defense, the Golden Warriors were able to match Chelmsford hit for hit.

It took Andover only seven minutes as first-year starter Peter Kannam fought off the goalie's attempt to take him and the ball out of play by laying a fine chip into an open net from the right wing. He came back just minutes later nailing a perfect chip right over the goalie's outstretched hands who came out to challenge Kannam on the right wing just outside the penalty box. Kannam's second goal made the score 2-0 and it stayed that way throughout the rest of the first half.

Andover entered the second half not letting up on their intensity. A penalty was called on a Chelmsford defender inside the penalty area, at which point Andover was awarded an indirect free kick. Bobby Hughes set the ball up immediately, giving the defense little chance to defend and chipped the ball over a pair of defenders setting up a wall to an unmarked striker, Steve Napolitano, who bulletted a volley past the diving goalie to bring the tally to 3-0. Tom Ciolfi made it 4-0 on a shot from the left side. After some key saves by goalie Rob Stoltz, Kannam scored once again to give him a hat trick, bring Andover's total to 5-0. Stoltz finished the game to record the shutout.

Andover Girls Take Two

By Jay Saunders

The Andover girls' varsity soccer team initiated the new Merrimack Valley League by defeating Chelmsford and Wilmington. The new league includes Andover, Chelmsford, Lowell, Wilmington and Billerica. Tewksbury and Dracut are associate members.

Andover's first game was under the lights against an always dangerous Chelmsford club. Chelmsford put immediate pressure on Andover's defense. An excellent save by Karen Del Sarto averted a score and gave seniors Michela Corkery and Beth Howe time to settle the defense. Andover began to assert itself with a quick counterattacking game. Senior right wing Sharon Petzold got the season's first goal when she beat the defenders to a ball fed by Shaleen Cassily.

Chelmsford's attempts to gain the equalizer were thwarted by an Andover defense that had been rebuilt by coach Dick Loschi and included sophomores Andrea Duffy at sweeper and Brenna Cronin at right wing back. The Lady Warriors midfielders took control and applied constant pressure in the offensive zone. Center midfielder Kerry Fitzpatrick was ably assisted by returning junior Kathleen Radulski and sophomores Kathy Doran and Jodi Saunders.

Andover scored again when Petzold and Cassily reversed roles and Cassily scored, making it 2-0 at the half.

Chelmsford was forced to withdraw into a defensive shell in the second half. Coach Loschi was able to augment the defense with juniors Krissie Carothers and Mina Sheel, applying constant offensive pressure with sophomores Suzanne Gianelly, Michele Vetrano and Erin Lynch.

Andover's final score came when Krissie Carothers scored unassisted off a defensive rebound.

Andover's second game of the week was against Wilmington who came out hard and fast. When Andover finally got going, it was senior Kim Heseltine who set up a header for Cassily for the first goal. Andover continued to press, but was not productive for the remainder of the first half.

Andover began to develop effective pressure in the second half. Heseltine was awarded a penalty kick and converted to make it 2-0. Andover's next two goals came on headed ball from Cassily with assists going to Petzold and Corkery. The fifth and final goal went to Petzold, unassisted.

The coach said he is pleased with the progress so far. The team has obviously started well, but has to work to be successful against stronger opponents.

In junior varsity action, coach Ken Najun's team is 1 and 1 after two games. They fought hard to achieve a 2-1 victory over Chelmsford in the first game. Goals were scored by Jenifer Sonntag and Kara Slavin with assists going to Debbie Donovan and Julie Mason. Andrea Georgian was outstanding in goal.

Four members of last year's successful West Junior High basketball team were rewarded for their efforts at the recently held Warrior overnight basketball camp at Merrimack College.

Chris Eggert, Brett Hammond, Joe Iarrobino and John Thompson were selected to the N.B.A. division All Star team (ages 14-16). All four played very well with Eggert and Thompson's west squad prevailing 59-58.

The camp, run by Merrimack Head Coach Bert Hammel, included coaches from colleges and high schools all over New England and was attended by some 200 boys.

Thompson and Eggert will move on to Andover High School this year, while Hammond and Iarrobino will be back at West.

Chelmsford 'Rains' Over Warriors

By Lewis C. Howe

Andover High football Coach Dick Collins won't be making any offensive adjustments for Saturday's game at Haverhill—he'll just pray it doesn't rain.

"We'll do things on offense this week we weren't able to do (last week) because of the weather," Collins said, referring to the Warriors' 14-2 setback at the hands of powerhouse Chelmsford last Friday night at Lovely Field.

Haverhill, while not nearly as formidable an opponent, is "vastly improved over last year," (when Andover beat them 42-0) Collins remarked. "They tied Lowell, nothing to nothing," he noted, "Lowell was a team favored in the league this year."

Coach Collins said he expects to see more passes thrown Saturday afternoon than during last Friday's Monsoon Bowl, when Chelmsford quarterbacks threw just four times, connecting twice for a total of 20 yards. Unfortunately for the local eleven, one of the completions was a 15-yard scoring strike from Dan Keefe to the Lions' Mr. Everything, Kyle Cripps.

Cripps also ran 28 yards for Chelmsford's first touchdown, following Derek Robinson's recovery of a Devon Arsenault fumble on the Andover 26. The heavy rains fell throughout the game, hindering the offense of both teams, who accounted for four turnovers apiece.

Poor field position contributed to the Warriors' woes during the first half, Collins said. "They got those two quick touchdowns, and with the rain hindering our offense, we were in the hole."

"Chelmsford kept getting the ball in our half of the field," Collins commented. "We never got that opportunity the whole game. Whenever we were driving we had to go all the way down the field."

Only Andover's rugged defensive front prevented an early blowout. Twice during the first half the Warriors stopped Chelmsford's grinding running game inside the 20 yard line, once on a fourth-and-goal from the Andover one.

Cripps (16 carries, 104 yards), exhibited a combination of strength and finesse that slashed through the Warriors on several occasions. "Cripps is probably the best back we'll face all year," stated Collins.

As if the rain weren't enough, the scoreboard clock gave out during the second quarter, resulting in confusion among all concerned parties.

The Warriors mounted their sole drive of the first half shortly before the gun sounded, with Arsenault carrying three times for 48 yards to get his team to the Chelmsford 20 before time expired.

The continuing rainstorm coupled with the "guesstimated" time prevented Andover from mounting any serious comeback during the second half. Collins termed the clock situation as "an absurdity." The coach claimed "we took the kickoff, ran 13 plays, and the officials said the quarter was over. We probably got cheated out of six or seven minutes of play, but that's what happens."

Collins added, "I don't know if we could have come back at that point anyway."

Andover's lone score came early in the fourth quarter when, on a fourth and long from the Chelmsford 15, a bad snap rolled through the legs of Lion punter Peter Jackson. The Warriors' Craig Buscema tackled Jackson for the safety.

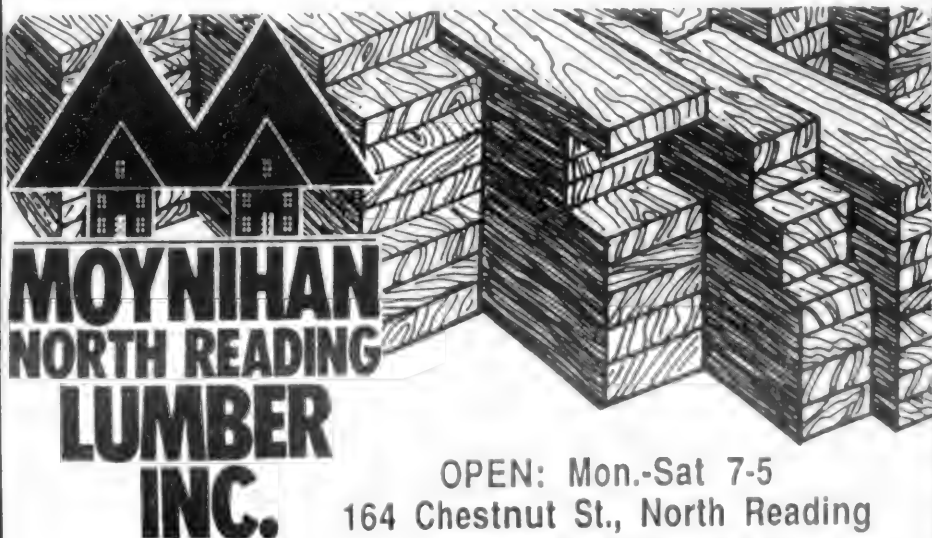

Andover was unable to parlay this into a major momentum switch when the Warriors' ensuing drive stalled at the Andover 46 yard line, as Brandon McCue's fourth

Moynihan Lumber's 6th Annual "HOMEOWNERS' DAY"

Saturday, September 26th
9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Rain or Shine

Are you thinking about a home improvement you'd like to make... whether it's replacing those old and drafty windows... Putting in new kitchen cabinets... Replacing an exterior door... Whatever the project, chances are the products you'll want to use will be on display at MOYNIHAN LUMBER'S 6th Annual Homeowners' Day, Saturday, September 26th from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Representatives from all the major door and window and lumber and building materials companies will be there to join with Moynihan's experienced sales staff to provide you with all the latest product information. Special prices will be offered on many items but only for those who are in attendance on Homeowners' Day. But that's not all... Also on hand will be specialists in home improvement financing, architectural design and construction. And everyone who takes part has a chance of winning one of over 50 prizes to be awarded during the day. So if its information you're looking for without any sales pressure, then make plans to stop in at Moynihan's this Saturday.

Dedication

Andover High Football Parents Organization president, Wayne Arsenault, left presents copy of 1987 football program to William Vickers, who retired this past year as a teacher-coach at Andover High. The program is dedicated to Vickers, who, in addition to his coaching and teaching at the Andover schools, was an outstanding scholar athlete here.

down desperation toss to John Perry fell incomplete.

Chelmsford was able to control the clock much of the rest of the way. A Chris Onufer interception got Andover the ball back on their own 27, but McCue was picked off on fourth down by Thomas Caito of Chelmsford, whose magnificent 56-yard runback for a touchdown was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Chelmsford, rated second in the state in Division 2, "was clearly the better team," Collins said afterward. However, the coach added, "we're better than we showed."

The Warriors will have a chance to show Haverhill on Saturday.

Energy Week

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis will declare the week of October 18-24 as the fifth annual "Massachusetts Energy Week," to heighten citizen awareness of energy issues and highlight energy programs in Massachusetts.

This year Energy Week will focus on the importance of electricity conservation.

Raspberries

The late crop of native fresh raspberries are being harvested until the first frost. Red raspberries are the most prominent raspberry grown in Massachusetts as they grow best in a cool climate.

Select raspberries that are firm, plump and rich in color with stem attached.

Special Needs Programs

Parents are invited to attend a meeting at Doherty Junior High School on Thursday, Oct. 1, at 7 p.m. with Dee Dee O'Brien of the Challenge Unlimited Horsemanship Program of Ironstone Farm. The lessons begin Thursday, Oct. 8, from 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the farm on Lowell Street.

Swimmers Swamp Westford

The 1987 varsity swim season began last Friday for the Andover High School's women's team as they swamped Westford 107-65 at the Greater Lawrence Technical School pool.

Sophomore Erika Suduiko was a triple winner, taking the 50 yard freestyle, 100 yard backstroke and teaming with Kristen Hubbell, Lisa Fox and Amy Van Aken to win the 200 yard medley relay. Dianne Schwarz, Brynn McGovern and senior co-captains Johanna Hohn and Lisa Herrmann were third in the event.

Pam Bucher was first in the 200 yard freestyle with Fox second. Tracey Pool placed second in the 200 yard individual medley with Hubbell third and Kate Robb fourth. Herrmann was second to Suduiko in the 50 free with Rebecca Puolo fifth.

Graduation took Susan Gerstberger and left a gap in the diving ranks that was filled admirably by two newcomers. Alison Butland came through with a strong, steady performance for second place while Mia Kearins showed great promise finishing fifth.

Laura Ghirardini and Boucher swam stroke for stroke in the 100 yard butterfly with Ghirardini touching in first just ahead of Boucher. Freshman Laura Koerckel captured the 100 yard freestyle with Pool second and Karen Pedersen fourth.

Van Aken took first place in the 500 free while Eszter Vajda and Janet Snell finished fourth and fifth, respectively.

Hubbell was second to Suduiko in the 100 yard backstroke with Hohn finishing fourth. Robb took second place in the 100 yard breaststroke, followed by McGovern and Monica Davis in third and fourth.

Pool, Boucher, Ghirardini and Koerckel finished 40 seconds ahead of the second-place team in the 400 yard free relay. Debbie Brendle, Eliza Tilghman, Cheryl Castignoli and Christine Spignesi placed third.

While points are only scored through fifth place in individual events, mention needs to be made of three team members who finished sixth. Freshman Allyson Bates swam a gutsy 200 yard freestyle in her first race while sophomore Janet Han, who dived last year, put in a list of dives with much greater degree of difficulty. Kim Maloney swam her first 100 butterfly and put together a strong stroke that held up all the way as she just missed fifth.

The first annual Merrimack Valley Conference Relay Carnival was held September 11 at the Haverhill High School pool. Out of the 10 events, Andover placed first in five, second in one, third in three and fourth in two.

First place went to Kristen Hubbell, Kate Robb, Laura Ghirardini, Erika Suduiko in the 200 yard medley relay; Lisa Fox, Lisa Herrmann, Pam Boucher, Ghirardini in the 200 yard free relay; Suduiko, Tracey Pool, Amy Van Aken, Laura Koerckel in the 400 yard medley relay; Johanna Hohn, Koerckel, Ghirardini in the 200 yard backstroke relay; Van Aken, Hubbell, Suduiko, Koerckel in the 400 yard free relay.

Boucher, Fox and Van Aken were second in the 600 yard free relay. In third place were Pool, Hohn, Hubbell, in the 600 yard I.M. relay; Pool, Boucher, Robb in the 200 yard butterfly relay and Brynn McGovern, Robb, Fox in the 200 yard breaststroke relay. In fourth place was Herrmann, Karen Pedersen, Monica Davis in the 200 yard breaststroke relay and Eliza Tilghman, Cheryl Castignoli, Sandyk Rygwalski, Rebecca Poulo in the 100 yard free B relay. Davis, Dianne Schwarz, Janet Snell and McGovern were sixth-place finishers in the 100 free relay A team.

Demonstration

Ron Brake, native New England artist, will give a demonstration of nautical watercolor painting at Reading Art Association's meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 14, at the First Congregational Church, Guild Hall, Sanborn Street, Reading, at 8 p.m.

Exhibit

The first major retrospective exhibition devoted exclusively to Ellsworth Kelly's works on paper opens at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, on December 2 and remains on view through January 31, 1988. Selected from several thousand works on paper, Ellsworth Kelly: Works on Paper includes 164 objects, encompassing figure drawings, portraits and collages as well as photographs, many of which served as studies for the artist's paintings and sculpture.

On The Soccer Fields

By Meg Holmes

The Andover Soccer Association has kicked off its second decade and 11th fall season with more than 1,300 children participating on 89 teams. In-town teams' first games were rained out. Despite the torrential downpours of the past two weekends, some traveling teams did play.

Under 16 Division

Cosmos 2 - Andover II 0

The heavy rain did not dampen the Cosmos' enthusiasm as they scored once in each half for the win. Goals were made by Michael Pierro and Peter Arthur, both on assists from Peter Johnson. BOW: Robert Dawley and Ken Harvey (Cosmos).

Under 14 Division

Fury 5 - Chelmsford 0

A strong Andover team dominated this match. First-half scoring was credited to Shannon Leary, unassisted; Amy Heseltine, from Kerry Hagerty; and Ari Boutin, unassisted. Nicole Angelso and Karen Babine scored in the second half, both assisted by Kara Milora. BOW: Lindsey Sweeney, Lorie Buehler, Carmela Sapienza and goalie Amy Kenney.

Scorpions 4 - North Andover 1

Angela Chongris' direct kick gave the Scorpions a lead which they never relinquished. Maureen Wade booted in a pass from Amy Di-Adamo and DiAdamo blasted in the two final Andover goals, one on Chrissy Donovan's assist. BOW: Kara O'Handley and Honor MacNaughton.

Terminators 7 - Medford 3

The energetic Terminators controlled the fast-paced first half with John Shea making a successful penalty kick and Brian Jones scoring from Reiji Hayes. After a Medford goal, Shea kicked in a shot set up by Gus Quattlebaum and Matt Reghitto. Medford scored again, but Scott Henry blasted in a goal with Reghitto's assist. Keith Selvitelli followed with help from Hayes to make the score 5-2. Medford began the second half with their third tally, but goals by Hayes, assisted by Brendan O'Leary, and by Greg Poor, assisted by John-Christopher Martin, insured the Terminators' win. BOW: Kevin Foltz, Tim Maracle, Mark Baker and Wayne Mattola.

Under 12 Division

Rowdies 1 - Medford 2

Both teams moved the ball well, but several scoring attempts failed because of excellent defensive lines until Medford tallied just before the end of the half. Andover came back to tie in the second half when Danny Hansberry booted in Matt Binda's pass. Both teams pressed hard for the advantage and Medford finally shot in the game-winner. BOW: Petr Gigliotti, Scott Zink, Willie Hall and goalies John Gruener and Alx Orbon.

To Sponsor Masters Swim Team

The Greater Lawrence Technical School will sponsor a Masters swim team for Merrimack Valley residents age 20 and over. Practices will be held Monday and Wednesday from 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Pool Director Marilyn Fitzgerald has announced that Nancy Brennan, former All-American swimmer and North Andover resident, will coach the group. While much of the focus is on competitive swimming, it is not necessary to have previous experience in order to join. Adults from 20 to 72 practiced at their own level during the summer.

Clydesdales

The Budweiser Clydesdale horses and the red beer wagon will parade through the Topsfield Fairgrounds at 3 p.m. Tuesday through Columbus Day, the final day of the Topsfield Fair.

Canadians of Scottish descent brought the first Clydesdales to the United States where they were introduced to Anheuser-Busch on April 7, 1933. Prohibition had just been repealed and, to commemorate the day, the eight-horse hitch thundered down Pestalozzi Street carrying the first case of post-Prohibition beer from the St. Louis brewery.

Each horse consumes as much as 25-30 quarts of feed, 50-60 pounds of hay and 30 gallons of water per day. The 40 pounds of reins the driver holds, plus the tension of the reins equals 75 pounds. Each set of harness weighs 130 pounds and the entire set of eight is valued at more than $48,000. Seven grooms travel with the hitch so that someone is with the animals 24 hours a day.

Champion Trick Skier

Stuart Abelson, age 12, of Andover, won a silver medal in trick skiing competition at the United States National Waterskiing championships in West Palm Beach, Fla., on August 12. He competes in the Junior Boys Division.

Stuart also took first place in trick skiing at the Eastern Regional Waterski championships July 30 in Erie, Penna., and won the New Hampshire trick title in Wolfeboro, N.H. July 25, setting a new Eastern Region record of 6,280 which broke the record of 5,490 points which he set last year.

Competitors are judged on the routines they perform in two 20-second passes. Stuart usually does 15 to 17 tricks in each pass. The difficulty of the trick, the form with which it is executed and the number of tricks performed determine total point score.

Stuart is a member of the National Junior Development Team and hopes to participate in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, Spain, when water-skiing will be included as an event for the first time. In the meantime he has his sights set on setting a new national record for the Junior Boys' Division.

Stuart is a member of the Correct Craft Junior Ski Team and does all his skiing behind a Ski Nautique 2001. He is also endorsed by EP Skis.

His brother, Richard, 10 years old, had a third-place win in the Eastern Regionals and an eighth-place win at the nationals.

Bantam A Team Selected

The Andover Hockey Association has announced the final roster for its Bantam A hockey team for the 1987-88 season. Ed Owens is the head coach and Frank Morey will be general manager. Linda Daley and Karen Walsh are team mothers. The team roster includes goalie Mike Daley, defensemen Todd Allard, Chris Cashman, Jim Morris (captain), Marc Ruskin (captain), Bob Sheehan and Mike Walsh. On offense the centers are Mike D'Angelo, Billy Owens and Frank Morey (captain). Greg Afarian, Sean Darwin, Tim Fox, Donny Fraser, Mike Murnane and Mike Ristuccia will play wing.

In a non-league tuneup, the A's played the Nashua, N.H., "Gate City Wings" to a 2-2 tie at the Saugus Hockey Town Rink. Both teams appeared rusty in the first period. Nashua went ahead at 5:14 on a two-on-one break. Before the period ended they hit the post twice more, but led only 1-0.

Andover tied it in period two at the 9:41 mark as Murnane scored on a rebound of a Ristuccia shot. The defense pairing of Allard and Walsh combined for a nice scoring threat but Nashua's goalie snared Walsh's quick wrist shot. Nashua regained the lead at 5:31 as they tucked the puck under Daley's right pad on a play that started behind Andover's net.

Murnane stole the puck in Nashua's end and scored at 4:39 on a hard shot over the goalie's right shoulder. Andover came close again as Owens penetrated the left wing and fed across to Fraser who was tied up. Allard picked up the loose puck and scored, but the goal was disallowed because an Andover player was in the crease. Murnane nearly had the hat trick in the third period, but the net moved and Nashua preserved the 2-2 tie.

During the Middle ages, the year began at various dates in different times and places. In England it was not until 1751 that January was restored to its place as first month, as it had been during the Roman era.

West Freshman Field Hockey In Training

By George Walsh

Monday marked the opening of field hockey season for West Junior High School as about 20 girls arrived for practice. An organizational meeting was held and Stacy Belisle and Amy Burdham were named to lead the warmups and drills.

This year's team has a nice balance between returning freshmen and first-year players. Returning goalkeeper Melissa McCarthy will start in net after posting four shutouts last season and hopes to improve on that record.

Kerry Zaloga also saw plenty of action last season and will be looking to make a significant contribution to this team. The team is also looking to freshman Jennifer Brooks and Sharon Wang for strong performances in the backfield.

Eighth grader Jennifer Enos, who attended North East Field Hockey Camp on the campus of Governor Dummer Academy, will see plenty of action as a sweep along with Rebecca Goldman and Andrea Biondo.

Eighth grader Grace Perry brings speed to the team and will spearhead the offense as an inner.

Michelle Bailey, Jill Morgan and Julie Street-er will see plenty of action in the backfield and as wings.

Late arrivals are second-year inner Maureen Mitchell and eighth graders Tina Colucci, who is just coming off a successful summer season on the tennis courts and will play right wing, and Jennifer Cavicchi.

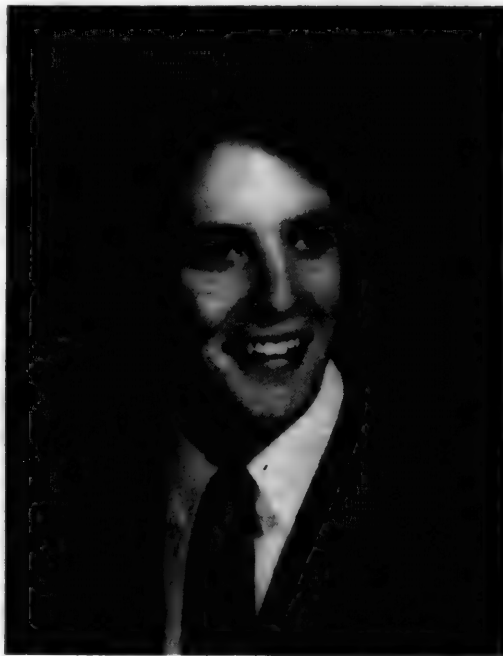

Vivian Chen will manage the team and help as an assistant trainer.

Nicholas R. Coon

Selected As Ouimet Scholar

Nicholas R. Coon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Condon and Ross Coon, has been selected as a Ouimet scholar by the board of directors of the Francis Ouimet Caddie Scholarship Fund.

Coon graduated from Andover High School in June and is attending Florida Southern College in Lakeland, Fla. He is majoring in International Management and will participate in the varsity golf program.

Penn Hall

The Penn Hall Alumnae Association at Wilson College in Chambersburg, Penna., is seeking former alumnae. Penn Hall, a prep school and junior college for young women, opened in 1906 and closed in 1973. For more than a decade, the alumnae association was inactive. The association has recently reorganized, elected new officers and is planning an all-school reunion June 24, 25 and 26, 1988, on the campus of Wilson College.

Any Penn Hall Preparatory School or Junior College alumnae or friend or parent of one who has been out of touch with recent Penn Hall news and activities should write to Linda Elliott, Assistant Director of Alumnae Affairs, Wilson College, 1015 Philadelphia Avenue, Chambersburg, Penna. 17201.

Spectrum Series Continues

New Hampshire College, 2500 North River Road in Manchester, N.H., will continue its Spectrum Speaker Series October 15 with "The Great Pornography Debate," featuring adult magazine publisher Al Goldstein and Page Mellish, founder of Feminists Fighting Pornography, at 12:30 p.m. in the athletic complex on the south campus.

James Walter of the college faculty, will be the moderator.

There is no admission charge and the public is welcome.

Speaker Series, sponsored by the college and its Student Government Association, brings a variety of guest lecturers and events to campus during the academic year. The program is designed to enhance and expand the usual classroom situations encountered by the students.

Goldstein, who has been called everything from a "pornographer" to a "butcher of sacred cows," was born in Brooklyn some 50 years ago. Emulating his father, a press photographer, he became a shutterbug, and his true love remains photography.

Swim Program

Swimming is one of the best therapeutic exercises for people with disabilities. The Massachusetts Easter Seal Society is offering an eight-week swim program for children, ages 6 to 17, at the Andover-North Andover YMCA on Sundays from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., starting September 27.

These programs, conducted by certified water safety instructors, give disabled swimmers the chance to move freely from the restraints of braces and wheelchairs.

All East Seal swim programs are free of charge and each instructor is assisted by a staff of volunteers.

Easter Seal is recruiting new additions for its volunteer swim program staff. Volunteers assist the swimmers on a one-to-one basis and are invaluable in maintaining the safety of the program.

For further information, contact Barbara Teittinen of the Massachusetts Easter Seal Society, 5 Ballard Way, Lawrence.

He started an adult magazine in 1968 with an investment of $300. The public's reaction touched a raw nerve that inevitably led to controversy. The rage of what he calls "prudes" at the magazine's audacity and explicitness brought continued harassment, culminating in a 1977 federal obscenity bust in Kansas which ended in vindication for Goldstein and the magazine.

While Mellish was trained as a microbiologist specializing in cytology, she has devoted much of her career to social activism. She worked as a primary activist with the San Francisco chapter of the National Organization of Women for five years in addition to working on many political campaigns.

Employed since 1981 by the San Francisco-based Women Against Violence and Pornography in Media, Mellish has worked as a fundraiser and organizer. She founded the New York-based Feminists Fighting Pornography in 1981, where she worked as its director.

At West Point

Michael E. Parker, son of Thomas and Barbara Parker, 282 Waverly Road, North Andover, has been officially accepted into the U.S. Military Academy's Corps of Cadets as a member of the class of 1991 during the annual acceptance parade.

The parade followed six weeks of rigorous basic cadet training at the West Point, N.Y., academy. Training in military customs and courtesies, drill and physical conditioning, tactical exercises and the firing of weapons introduced the cadets to military life with special emphasis on leadership, duty, honor and country.

Apples

While Massachusetts is known as "McIntosh Country," other varieties grown and enjoyed locally include Cortland, Red and Golden Delicious, Macoun, Rome, Baldwin, Gravenstein and Northern Spy.

Small quantities of apples should be refrigerated or stored in a plastic bag with a few perforated holes to allow air into the bag so the apples can breathe. Store large quantities in a cool, dark place.

Apples are a primary source of quick energy from natural fruit sugars and are low in calories with only 70 calories per medium-size apple.

Apples are a traditional crop in the Bay State, as John Winthrop, First Governor

Most rabbits are nocturnal creatures, preferring to eat and play from dusk until dawn. During the day they rest and sleep.

'88 Lincolns Arriving

New Lincoln Continental

The new 1988 Lincolns are in! The Continental is all-new and front-wheel-drive for '88, and features a sleek exterior—with no spare tire hump.

Under the skin are the improved 3.8 liter V-6, a four-speed automatic transmission, speed-sensitive variable-assist steering, a computer-controlled dual-damping air suspension, and anti-lock brakes. The optional-goodies list includes a compact-disc player, an Insta-Clear windshield, and seats with power lumbar support and position memory.

The Town Car for 1988 went into production last March, with a new grille, revised tail trim, and minor interior changes. New this fall are an upgraded sound system, turbine-style alloy wheels, and a two-tone paint treatment for the Cartier Designer Series.

The Mark VII's range has been pared to two editions: the LSC and Bill Blass. An improved sound system is the only change this fall.

You can visit and examine these and other Lincoln/Mercury models at Merrimack Lincoln/Mercury, 115 Merrimack St., Methuen.

In Cast

Frank Kaplan of Andover is cast in Me and My Shadow, a new musical in its premier run at City Theater in Biddeford, Maine.

The show is about the life and times of showman/songwriter/philanthropist Billy Rose and combines original Rose music with new numbers written especially for the show.

Performances are given weekends through Sept. 27.

VA Changes

The Veterans Administration has adopted a new policy on branch of service inscriptions for veterans' grave markers and has issued new requirements for the delivery of all government-issued monuments.

The VA will now provide inscriptions for all branches of service on headstones and markers at government expense.

Also, the VA now delivers all grave monuments by private carrier. Applications must indicate a street address since post office box numbers cannot be used for shipping purposes. Stone monuments have traditionally been shipped by private carrier and now bronze markers will be handled the same way.

Burial in a national cemetery with available grave space is open to all veterans discharged under conditions other than dishonorable as well as eligible dependents of veterans.

A government headstone or marker is furnished to mark the graves of veterans and their dependents interred in national cemeteries and, upon request, to mark the graves of veterans interred in private cemeteries.

Down The Years

In a spectacular early evening accident Sunday, two men lost their lives and three others were seriously injured when their car slammed into a tree on Lovejoy Road.

Rogers Brook bids will be advertised during the last week of October, according to word received from Representative Arthur Williams.

A capital expenditure program for seven years has been tentatively presented to town officials, which would cost nearly $9.5 million.

10 Years Ago — September 1977

A reduction in force policy that would make staff cuts on a system-wide basis rather than on a school by school basis was given a preliminary nod by the school committee Tuesday night.

The Andover School Committee also indicated Tuesday that it will go along with a new "assistant superintendent" instead of an associate, providing the new position doesn't leave them open to any litigation.

Within the past month U. S. Postal service officials informed the town's Industrial Development Commission that it now plans to move its distribution and processing operations out of town to Lawrence and phase out the Ballardvale and Shawsheen substations.

The Industrial Development Commission is expected to assist Phillips Academy with the disposal of the Abbot Academy land and buildings off School Street.

Enrollment at the Shawsheen school is down 50 from the enrollment in June—or 20 to 30 more than expected. At the same time, there's been a loss of 75 to 100 pupils at the high school, or more than 50 fewer students than anticipated.

Volvo 760 Is Luxury

The Volvo 760 Turbo is luxury in a rugged package. The 760 has a lot of bright trim around the grille, windows, rain gutters, wheel wells and bumper strips, and the alloy wheels have stainless wheel covers.

Rectangular and angular best describe the Volvo 700 series. There's a straight up-and-down boxlike grille surrounded by four square headlamps, black-coated bumpers and driving lights in the up-front air dam. This blunt look is slightly softened by a faintly wedge-shaped body style with fairly long hood and rear deck.

Heated side view mirrors and front seats highlight the car's superb climate-control system, and a huge trunk allows for substantial inside storage space.

A long wheelbase, large anti-sway bars, an automatic leveling system and gas-filled shocks allow for total driver control, and four-wheel disc brakes (and the antilock brake system) mean better performance and safety.

Volvo's 2.3-liter, 4-cylinder fuel-injected single overhead cam engine develops 160 hp, and the 4-speed automatic transmission with electric overdrive shifts smoothly. This allows for extra power in climbing or passing situations.

The EPA rates the 760 Turbo Sedan at 19 MPG city, 22 highway. You can check out the 760 Turbo and other fine Volvo models at Jaffarian's Volvo/Toyota, 312 River St., Haverhill, Exit 49 off Route 495.

Weight lifting at Rocca's Fitness Center

Rocca's Fitness Center: Body Builders

Feel like your being dragged down by that tired feeling? No energy to stand up straight and pull those shoulders back? Your probably out of alignment!

Over a period of time, the pull of gravity causes your shoulders to gradually fall forward causing your chest muscles to shorten. To compensate, your upper back muscles stretch, making it difficult for you to pull your shoulders back.

Your upper back muscle, along with your side muscles, are your pulling muscles. By strengthening these, you will lengthen your chest muscles so that you can pull your shoulders back, lift your rib cage and pull in your abdominal muscles.

Congratulations.....you're standing up straight again! You look better, you feel better and your getting more energy every day.

Where and how are you going to accomplish all this? Why not stop into Rocca's Fitness Center at 205 South Union St., Lawrence.

Owner John Rocca has been into body building for the past twenty years, participating in the Junior Mr. America contest in 1974 and the Mr. Massachusetts contest in 1978. Three years ago he opened Rocca's Fitness Center and has passed on his knowledge to over three hundred grateful customers. Men, women and young adults (over the age of sixteen) have all benefited for his Free Weight lifting program.

You too, can tone your muscles, gain stamina and endurance, lose fat and improve your strength. Rocca's Fitness Center also carries a full line of all natural National Health Products including the Steroid Replacer Pacs, the safe substitute for anabolic steroids.

For more information, call Manager Maureen Toohey at 689-9564. Open Mon. thru Fri., 9-10, Sat., 9-4 and Sun. 9-2.

Andover Tanning Center: Safe Tanning Year 'Round

It's been a great summer and it shows. With so many great weather weekends, you finally acquired the tan you've always wanted. It wasn't easy either! Lying out in the sweltering sun from dawn to dusk, consuming gallons of lemonade to quench the thirst and smelling like a coconut for three or four months.....but, you look great!

Now, you can keep that glorious glow the easy way and in far less time.

Visit the Andover Tanning Center at 52 Main St., Andover and maintain that tan simply, comfortably and conveniently. Just slip into one of their eight private rooms, lock the door, dress or undress for complete exposure, lay down on the comfortable bed and relax.

The Andover Tanning Center's Suntana SunSystem does the rest without damaging your skin. There is no need for oils, lotions or creams, as they will actually slow down the tanning process. Just one or two sessions a week will help you to keep your hard earned summer tan.

Think you don't have the time? You do! You can come in on your lunch hour, if you wish. Depending on your skin type, one session is only 10 to 20 minutes, with 20 minutes equalling approximately 4 hours in the sun.

To determine the length of your individual sessions,

Andover Tanning Center's specially trained instructors will evaluate your answers to a few pertinent questions regarding your skin type and how readily you tan.

The staff monitors their clients carefully, keep the equipment in spotless condition and consider the privacy and comfort of the customers, their highest priority.

Andover Tanning Center offers a variety of plans to fit every schedule and budget, ranging from a single session to monthly memberships. Open daily. Call Mary Christian, Manager at 475-2582 for more information.

Professor Has Book Published

The Catholic University of America Press has just published The Theological Aesthetics of Hans Urs von Balthasar by Dr. Louis Roberts, associate dean of arts and sciences and professor of modern languages at Merrimack College.

The 266-page work is an assessment of the theologian's work, which approaches theology as "a contemplative reflection upon what God has done through culture, art and beauty."

"Balthasar exemplified a particular kind of theological enterprise," Roberts said. "Because he views theology as a kind of literary criticism, his work is important, not only to theologians, but to scholars in the field of literature and letters."

Born in Lucerne, Switzerland, in 1905, Balthasar was ordained a Jesuit priest in 1936, but left the Society of Jesus in 1950 and founded the lay order of the Community of St. John and became a priest of the Diocese of Chur in Switzerland. He has written dozens of books on the Church Fathers and produced major monographs on such authors as Georges Bernanos and Karl Barth. Called by theologian Henri de Lubac "the most cultured man in Europe," Balthasar's work is acclaimed on the continent, but largely unknown in the English-speaking world.

Roberts studied all of Balthasar's works in their original German. His book includes a selection representative of the theologian's major themes.

Roberts writes, "Balthasar begins with the conviction that the concept of beauty is the foundation of the classical world—its myths, philosophy, art and literature—and that the loss of that transcendental quality of beauty in theology has been disastrous, for example, the overemphasis on scholasticism and the lesser appreciation of the mystical. Balthasar's fresh presentation of authors from the classical period (Homer to Euripides, Vergil to Horace), from the Church Fathers (Origin to Augustine) and modern writers (Racine to Brecht) make him a major contributor to this literary tradition."

Roberts holds a doctorate in classics from the State University of New York at Buffalo and the S.T.L. (licentiate) in philosophy and theology from the University of Innsbruck, Austria.

It was in Austria as a student of Karl Rahner that he became interested in Balthasar and his work.

Formerly professor of classics and humanities at Syracuse University, Roberts came to Merrimack in July. He is the author of numerous articles and several books, including The Achievement of Karl Rahner.

The word ye, in such expressions as "Ye Olde Shoppe," is pronounced like the word the. The letter y in Anglo-Saxon indicated the same th sound as apparent in the current spelling.

Consumer Protection

Governor Dukakis signs dental society's consumer protection bill. Gov. Michael Dukakis has signed into law a bill that protects consumers from deceptive advertising practices by dentists and makes it easier for consumers to make decisions about their care.

The bill, sponsored by the Massachusetts Dental Society, prohibits advertising that is confusing, misleading or makes claims that consumers can't verify.

Responsibility for enforcing the new law and disciplining dentists charged with deceptive advertising practices lies with the Board of Registration in Dentistry.

The law prohibits advertising claims that:

- contain a statement of opinion as to the quality of dental services
- refer to benefits or other attributes of dental procedures or products that involve significant risks but that do not include realistic assessments of the safety and efficacy of those procedures or products

- contain statistical data, representations or other information that is not susceptible to reasonable verification by the public
- refer to a fee or fees for dental services and fail to disclose that additional fees may be involved in individual cases, if the possibility of incurring such additional charges may be reasonably foreseen • offer a discount for dental services without disclosing the total fee

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS THE TRIAL COURT THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT DEPARTMENT

Essex Division

Docket No. 85P1214-GII

NOTICE OF

FIDUCIARY'S ACCOUNT

To all persons interested in the estate of Agnes D. Stack of Andover, in said County, a mentally ill person.

You are hereby notified pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 72 that the Substituted first and final account of John J. Stack and Mary E. Cochrane as temporary guardian (the fiduciary) of the property of said Agnes D. Stack has been presented to said Court for allowance.

If you desire to preserve your right to file an objection to said account, you or your attorney must file a written appearance in said Court at Salem on or before the nineteenth day of October, 1987, the return day of this citation. You may upon written request by registered or certified mail to the fiduciary, or to the attorney for the fiduciary, obtain without cost a copy of said account. If you desire to object to any item of said account, you must, in addition to filing a written appearance as aforesaid, file within thirty days after said return day or within such other time as the Court upon motion may order a written statement of each such item together with the grounds for each objection thereto, a copy to be served upon the fiduciary pursuant to Mass. R. Civ. P. Rule 5.

Witness, Thaddeus Buczko, Esquire, First Justice of said Court, this sixteenth day of September, 1987.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS THE TRIAL COURT THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT Essex Division

Docket No. 87P2307-EI

Estate of Esther M. Conkey late of Andover in the County of Essex.

NOTICE

A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that a certain instrument be probated purporting to be the last will of said deceased by Arlene H. Fleming of Carlisle in the County of Middlesex, praying that she be appointed executrix thereof, without giving a surety on her bond.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Salem on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on October 19, 1987.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving specific grounds therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 2A.

BUSINESS PROFILES

RE/MAX

Co-Managers Lisa Rao and San Crandall
RE/MAX Preferred, Inc.: A Better Way

A successful real estate agent in Denver, Colorado in the 1970's, wanted more. David Liniger was far from satisfied with the conventional real estate companies that offered such services as group advertising, name recognition and partially paid expenses and require him to split his hard earned commission 50/50 with the office broker.

David Liniger found a better way by starting a company in which salespeople would retain 100% of their commissions in exchange for sharing management fees and office expenses, but still take advantage of institutional advertising, referral networks and a national name and image. His better way worked. Today, just 14 years later, RE/MAX was named the fastest-growing real estate franchise in the United States by Entrepreneur's Franchise 500.

In January 1986, Fred Fischelli bought a RE/MAX franchise, recruited top agents (who pay a flat monthly management fee) and opened RE/MAX Preferred, Inc., located at 1 Branch St., Methuen, MA. Within a month or two, he will open a second RE/MAX at 451 Andover St., Rt. 114, North Andover.

Co-Managers Lisa Rao and San Crandall are busily overseeing the last minute finishing touches on the new offices and enthusiastically await the grand opening. "You have all the advantages of owning your own company without all the disadvantages," stated San. She and Lisa know, for they have both been associated in the Methuen offices for over a year.

Watch for the RE/MAX, North Andover grand opening and for more information call San Crandall or Lisa Rao at 689-2880. RE/MAX Preferred, Inc., is the second largest real estate company in the United States and Canada in terms of gross volume and number of transactions and they are aiming to be 1.

REAL ESTATE GUIDELINES

Realty U.S.A.
Schruender Real Estate

HOLDING THE SALE TOGETHER

Many of our listings come from people who tried to sell their own homes, and who thought they had been successful. All too often, however, "By Owners" learn the hard way that selling their home is easy, but keeping it sold and getting their buyers to the settlement table is another story.

What are some of the pitfalls? First of all, face to face negotiations with a buyer can be hazardous, even if they really want the house. Then there's the paperwork. Stationery store contract forms rarely cover all of the requirements in your city or state regarding taxes or various disclosure laws, and this may create major loopholes allowing buyers with cold feet to back out at the last minute. Once you have come to terms, how can you be sure your buyers will find competent professionals to handle their loan and complete the settlement? What if there are problems with the structural inspection or termites pop out of your woodwork? These are just some of the areas where our experience and expertise serve our clients every day in completing successful transactions!

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling a home, talk to the professionals at Realty USA / Schruender Real Estate. Come by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover or call us at 685-5000.

REALTOR

NO BALLGAME TODAY, GEORGE

If you've ever tried to sell your own home, I'm sure it didn't take long to discover that it's a full time job. "Sorry, George, but you can't go to the ballgame today, we have to show the house at 2 p.m." A familiar tune?

If you sell your home the professional way, through a Realtor, you'll not only get the best price for it, but you won't have to be a slave to it. Turn the keys over to me. George and go to the ballgame. No longer will you have to stay home all weekend. You won't be missing a beat. In fact, most realtors prefer NOT to have the owner about when they bring prospects by. Prospects feel freer to discuss the house when you aren't around.

The very fact that it's you who may be showing them around your home will inhibit prospects. They may not feel comfortable making a thorough inspection as they would with a Realtor. As a result, Mrs. Prospect might overlook the very feature she wants that could close the sale. Making sure nothing is overlooked is my job.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Pouchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

A TAXING SITUATION

Some lending institutions require the buyer to set up an escrow account. This is a fund to which the borrower makes regular contributions. The lending institution is thereby assured that the buyer's real estate taxes and insurance are sure to be paid. It may be a new experience for a first time homeowner to be called upon to pay these expenses. Since not all homeowners are entirely prepared to handle these costs, the lending institution demands that an escrow account be established to protect its investment. This can benefit the homeowner in several ways. The lender takes care of all of the headaches and paperwork for the homeowner. Lastly, unexpected expenses will not force the homeowner to borrow additional monies just to pay bills.

Buying, selling or building a home is serious business. CENTURY 21 SHAWMUT REALTY, INC. has built a wonderful reputation by satisfying even our most discriminating clients. Reassignment Of Teacher Eases Overcrowded First Grade

By Lewis C. Howe

The reassignment of a Bancroft Elementary school first grade teacher to South Elementary has alleviated overcrowded classroom conditions at South.

"All student-teacher ratios are within policy guidelines" said Lois Haslam, Assistant School Superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction. A problem arose during the opening week of school when higher-than-expected enrollments at South left just three teachers to contend with 80 first-graders, or almost 27 students per instructor.

The decision to transfer a Bancroft teacher stemmed from low student-teacher ratios there. An average of only 16.6 first grade students were enrolled at Bancroft. "Both schools now have ratios within the accepted guidelines," Haslam commented.

James Redmond, head of the Andover Education Association (AEA), said Valerie Rurack, a first-grade teacher at Bancroft, volunteered to switch schools in order to alleviate crowding at South. "She made a very professional decision," Redmond said, "changing schools during the year is very difficult to do."

The teachers' union official termed the move "the best and most feasible option for all concerned," adding "to hire another teacher from outside at this point" would work for South Elementary, but would not solve the problem of too low a pupil-instructor ratio at Bancroft. He said both schools now have first-grade classes of about 20 students each.

Redmond pointed out the change "will be a difficult thing for people at Bancroft to make, just as it is difficult for the people at South to move everything around. He added "things are evening out" now, "and I have the faith that things are being done well."

Haslam praised the cooperation between the two buildings. "Both schools worked very closely with teachers' and parents' groups in planning the move," she stated. "The custodians moved the furniture during the weekends."

Jade Auger, principal of South Elementary, thanked the five custodians who came in on Saturday "and worked like a moving company."

Auger explained that, in order to make room for Ms. Rurack, a third-grade classroom located next to the existing first-grade classes had to be moved to another part of the building.

This class subsequently displaced a fourth-grade class, which had to be moved to the music room. The music room then had to be vacated, with music classes now being taught from the school cafeteria or from other classrooms.

"The custodians came in and moved four rooms on one Saturday," Auger said. "That was absolutely wonderful."

The faculty of South "has also been wonderful," the principal continued. "The teachers offered to give up their faculty room for the music classes," she recounted, "but I opted not to go that way because the room was too small and I felt it would cause too great a hardship for the faculty." Auger added the school is examining several options for the music program.

Haslam said she has checked with both schools on their progress in realigning the first grade, and remarked the process "has been done as quickly and effectively as possible."

While there do not appear to be any more enrollment "trouble spots" at this time, Haslam was cautious. "No matter how closely we could project population from one year to the next," she explained, "there will be occasions when enrollment exceeds the boundaries we set forth."

Population, she said, is "quite capricious, and can't always be predicted. People should expect these things to happen from time to time."

Associate ZBA Members Appointed

The selectmen have appointed C. Ryan Buckley and Paul Bevacqua to associate positions on the Zoning Board of Appeals. John Bryden, formerly an associate member, is now a full-fledged member of the ZBA.
